Mass Invasion By Red Youths In Berlin Halted

City Hall Seizure Thwarted As Propaganda War Renewed

BERLIN, Aug. 15 (INS)—Between 20,000 and 50,000 Communist youths stormed into the western sectors tonight in a surprise renewal of the long-dormant battle of Berlin and attempted to seize the city hall. But they were driven off by police clubs and high-pressure water hoses.

The invasion touched off hours of street fighting between the young Communists and the police protectors of Western Berlin. When it was over an American spokesman said:

"Prompt and decisive action by the police saved free Berlin from Communist conquest."

MANY INJURED

Hundreds of Communists were arrested and many were injured in the fighting, which also involved the rival police forces of East and West Berlin, as the battle swayed back and forth across the border.

Late tonight American troops were placed on a "ready basis" and French troops took positions along the sector border in anticipation of new Communist assaults.

But a spokesman at U.S. headquarters expressed confidence that the West German police would be able to deal with any situation that might arise.

Large groups of Communists assembled on the eastern side of the border and the police formed a solid defense line on their side.

REFUSED TO TAKE PART

Western officials said the invasion might have been "far graver" but for the rebellion of many Communist youths who refused to participate.

The young invaders dragged a West Berlin policeman back across the border, where he was beaten up. West Berlin police counter-attacked and rescued him.

A West Berlin civilian also was kidnapped by the Communists. A band of rescuers stormed into the Soviet sector and freed the victim after a fight with the Communist police.

The invasion came in the midst of an East-West propaganda war. The situation grew worse gradually as the Communists shot anti-Western leaflets into the Allied sectors, and a U.S. helicopter bombarded delegates to the Red festival with leaflets calling on them to "resist enslavement."

Treaty Bars Payments For Canada

OTTAWA, Aug. 15 (CP)—Canada has been kept informed of negotiations leading to the final draft of the Japanese peace treaty made public today in Washington, external affairs officials said.

No copy of this final draft has reached Ottawa, but only minor departures have been made from an earlier draft made public last month. Canada has been advised of those changes.

Canada, which plans to sign the treaty at San Francisco next month with other countries which fought against Japan, will not benefit from reparations clauses in the final draft. These provide only for payment to countries whose present territories were occupied and damaged by Japanese troops.

ISLAND SHELLED

Canadian territory was never invaded by the Japanese, although a lone Japanese submarine did lob a few shells into Estevan Point on the west coast of Vancouver Island. No serious damage was caused.

Son, Attorney To Administer Huge Holdings

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15 (INS)—One of his five sons and his personal attorney today were named special administrators to direct temporarily the multi-million-dollar properties of publisher William Randolph Hearst.

The appointment of Randolph Apperson Hearst and Attorney Henry S. MacKay, Jr., was approved by Probate Court here.

The estate was unofficially valued at more than $20,010,000.

The Hearst corporation owns, directly or through subsidiaries, 15 metropolitan newspapers, nine national magazines, news feature and photo services, three radio stations, one television station, a newsprint mill and pulp mills, timber lands, ranches, office buildings, newspaper and magazine plants, antiques and works of art, mining companies and "various and sundry" properties.

Mr. Hearst left his entire estate in trust for his widow, five sons and charities.

The widow, Mrs. Millicent W. Hearst, of New York City, was left $7,500,000 in stock and cash.

No Rainfall Yet Sighted

Victorians have had their rain ration for this week at least.

Even Monday's sprinkle, officially termed "a trace," is not likely to be repeated this week, according to weather forecasters.

Nearest thing to moisture, says the weatherman, will be a few patches of fog this morning and a scattering of light clouds on the east coast of the island.

Temperature will remain about the same—around the 70 mark—today. Citizens here can continue to think of rain as a long-lost luxury.

New Strides in Aviation

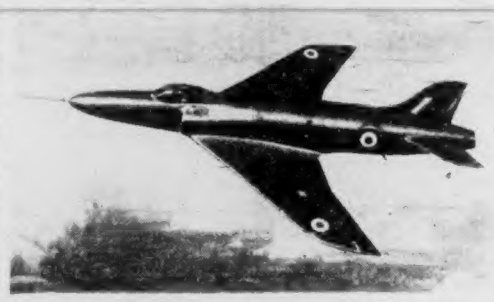
This helicopter, hovering over Ottawa's Uplands airport, is the first one designed outside the United States to obtain a certificate of airworthiness, according to its builders, Intercity Airlines of Montreal. The three-place craft has been designed to meet Canadian conditions. On the ground is designer Bernard Szny-cer and aloft are assistant designer Selma Gottlieb and pilot Jack Godsy.—(CP photo.)



Latest addition to R.A.F. is Supermarine Swift, swept-wing fighter. The plane, recently taken off the restricted list, is powered by a Rolls Royce Avon jet engine.—(CP photo.)

Victoria Petty Officer On Merry-Go-Round

By RAY BAINES

You just can't win. You join the navy to see the world and what do you see? Halifax.

PO. Darrel Nute of Victoria isn't complaining, but when a guy gets a posting to Victoria, his home town, after 15 months in Halifax, the last place he wants to go is right back to "Slackers."

Here's how the naval run-around all came about.

In the crew of H.M.C.S Ontario early in 1950, PO. Nute was posted to the east coast port for a course to qualify him as a 4th class electrical technician.

After 13 months in Halifax came the happy day—a posting back to Victoria and to the "Big O."

And where's the Ontario headed for? You guessed it—back to Halifax to take part in the Royal visit escort.

At present staying with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nute, of 221 St. Lawrence Street, the 25-year-old petty officer leaves with the big cruiser Aug. 31.

"Of my five years in the navy, I've already spent three on the east coast," says PO. Nute.

The toughest part of the whole thing, he says, is that this time his wife, Shirley, and three-year-old son, David, stay home.

Says City Lacks Power To Halt Beach-Littering

A veteran city map-maker has claimed that despite the passing of a city by-law several years ago to change Dallas Road waterfront boundaries, civic officials still have no jurisdiction over beaches in the area.

The by-law, designed to give the city power to keep beaches from the Outer Wharf to Foul Bay free from litter, should have been implemented by provincial order-in-council "but nothing was done about it," he said yesterday.

AT HIGH WATER MARK

The map-maker said in his own maps he still shows the waterfront boundary at the high water mark. The by-law was to have moved the boundary to the low water mark.

He said he believed the provincial government did not approve the alteration as it was then outlined in the by-law and the "matter was just dropped."

"We have a situation now where the police have no power to take action against beach litterers, even though there's a by-law supposedly giving them that power," he said.

The map-maker, who does work for the city, has approached the city on the matter but so far has obtained no results.

Fire Damages Empty Home

A fire, believed to have originated from short-circuiting wires, caused nearly $1,000 damage last night to an unoccupied Saanich home at the corner of Tulip and Marigold Avenues.

The owners, said to have purchased the home only a few weeks ago, are holidaying in Mexico. Neither police nor fire department officials were able to identify the owners.

Firemen say most of the damage was from smoke which filled the whole house.

Mitchell Endorsed By Labor

Frank Mitchell, C.C.F candidate in Esquimalt by-election, was endorsed by Victoria Labor Council (C.C.L.) last night.

In an address to the council, Mr. Mitchell accused the Coalition Government of playing party politics by failing to call the by-election within its due date.

GOVERNMENT AT FAULT

He also said the government was at fault for failing to take a stand against high living costs, and for failing to implement changes in the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act.

Regarding hospital insurance, Mr. Mitchell said a C.C.F. government would eliminate co-insurance and return premiums at least to levels existent last year.

In Vancouver, full support of the B.C. Federation of Labor (C.C.L.) was pledged to Mr. Mitchell.

George Home, B.C.F.L. secretary, said: "Labor has been protesting the policies of the Coalition Government. Here is a chance to show our dissatisfaction by insuring the election of an opposition candidate."

Linking Envoy With Inquiry Draws Protest

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Canada is reported to have protested to the United States against the naming of one of its diplomats at a hearing held by the Senate's sub-committee on internal security.

The incident occurred last Thursday when Robert Morris, committee counsel, asked Maj.-Gen. Charles A. Willoughby what he knew about E. H. Norman. Morris identified Norman as chief of the Far East division of Canada's department of external affairs.

NAMED AS STUDENT

Morris said Norman had been named at an earlier committee hearing as a man who belonged to a "Communist party student group at Cape Cod (Mass.) in 1939." He stated that Dr. Carl August Wittfogel, a witness, testified "it was obvious" that Norman was a Communist at the time.

(In Ottawa last Thursday, the department of external affairs said Norman had been given "a clean bill of health" after a double security check. A department spokesman said that Norman had never been in Cape Cod.)

Frightened by Collision

Two Women Shaken Up As Tally-Ho Horses Bolt

Two women were shaken up and a sightseeing tally-ho damaged when its four horses bolted after a collision with a B.C. Electric bus on Belleville Street yesterday.

Mrs. Eric Lindquist of Berkeley, Calif., received undetermined injuries when she was thrown from the tally-ho, it was reported. She was in good condition late last night in St. Joseph's Hospital, St. Joseph's Hospital.

Nellie Berkowiez of Los Angeles was treated for bruises at St. Joseph's Hospital.

City police said the tally-ho was parked on Belleville when the collision occurred, causing the horses to bolt along the street.

The vehicle struck another tally-ho and a taxi before losing a wheel and grinding to a stop near the C.P.R. station. Two of the horses broke loose and disappeared from the scene.

Driver of the bus was Robert E. Green, 2695 Douglas, and operator of the Capital City Tally-ho was George Gaviller, 575 Johnson, police said.

TRIED TO STOP

Police credited another Tally-ho driver, Jim McKibbin, with an attempt to rein in the frightened horses.

The accident occurred shortly after the 5 p.m. traffic rush at Government and Belleville.

City police traffic officers Earl McKeen and Lorne Johnson investigated the accident.

Red Truce Group Accepts U.N. Plan To Fix Zone Issue

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN

U.N. BASE NEAR KAESONG, Aug. 16 (Thursday) (INS)—Communist truce negotiators today agreed to an Allied proposal to create a sub-committee to deal with the deadlocked question of a cease-fire buffer zone across Korea.

The Red delegates accepted the proposal with one revision that two sub-committee members be appointed by each side instead of one.

First meeting of the sub-committee was set for 11 a.m. tomorrow (6 p.m. Thursday, PDT).

MUST SETTLE ISSUE

It was a virtual certainty that the full five-man Allied-Communist delegations will not meet again at Kaesong until the sub-committee disposes of the buffer zone issue to the satisfaction of both sides.

Major-General Henry I. Hodes was chosen as one of the Allied committee members. The other will be named tomorrow.

The Communists appointed North Korean Major-Gen. Lee and Chinese Gen. Hseih Fang.

The Allied sub-committee suggestion came after the Reds were disclosed to have shown signs of retreating from their demands for a cease-fire line along the 38th Parallel.

GIVES WARNING

Nevertheless, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway warned anew that if the cease-fire talks fail the Allies will strike for victory on the battlefield.

In a message to the Korean people on the third anniversary of the Republic and sixth anniversary of their liberation from Japan, Ridgway said:

"Although the battle is joined the conflict is not yet won. The enemy is powerful and is capable of again launching further aggressive attacks."

RECOMMENDATIONS

Vice-Admiral Charles Turner Joy, chief U.N. delegate, suggested at Wednesday's meeting that a subcommittee of one delegate from each side, with not more than two assistants each, tackle the buffer zone issue and "make recommendations to the two delegations."

Man Drowns

VANCOUVER, Aug. 15 (CP)—A Canadian army officer was drowned tonight at the resort of Bowen Island while his wife and a cousin gazed in helpless horror from the shoreline only 20 feet away.

R.C.M.P. identified the victim as Lieut. C. B. Lecuyer, 33, of Screptre, Sask.

Reds Put Up Hard Fight For Hilltop

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Aug. 16 (Thursday) (AP)—An Allied reconnaissance in force failed yesterday for the second straight day to reach the top of an enemy-held hill on the western front north and northeast of Korangpo.

Patrols all along the 140-mile battlefront met bristling enemy resistance. But on the eastern front west of Kansong, fierce fighting for high ground slackened.

There was one patrol clash near Kaesong.

On the central front around Kumhwa and the Hwachon reservoir, Allied foot patrols fought several skirmishes.

Heavy Red fire harassed U.N. forces northeast of Yanggu, at the eastern end of the Hwachon reservoir.

Most of North Korea was blanketed by low clouds but Far East air forces planes flew 700 individual flights against enemy communications, supplies and troop positions.

U.N. surface craft bombarded enemy areas both on the east and west coasts.

No Sign of Life

Sight Bomber Wreckage On Island in Bering Sea

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Aug. 15 (AP)—The U.S. Alaska command reported late today the sighting of the wreckage of a four-engined navy patrol bomber 26 miles north of Cold Bay on Amak Island in the Bering Sea.

A PB4-Y-2 Privateer bomber vanished Sunday with 12 aboard on a routine operations mission from Kodiak toward Adak Island in the mid-Aleutians.

A navy lieutenant, flying a PBY search plane, said he spotted the wreckage at the 800-foot level, where it had burned out an area 150 to 200 feet in diameter.

He reported sighting no bodies or survivors near the wreckage.

He said a bail-out would have been possible but not probable.

ISLAND PLANE

In Vancouver, Canadian Press said a huge flock of crows hovering over a Vancouver Island inlet had been discounted as a possible lead to a seaplane missing more than a week.

R.C.A.F. search officials said the birds were probably feasting on a dead animal.

Missing since August 4 is a Queen Charlotte Airlines plane with a pilot and six passengers aboard.

It vanished while on a flight from Muchalat Arm to Tofino on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

An R.C.A.F. launch spotted the crows at Sewardson Inlet, which is along the plane's projected route.

Left New York For O'Dwyer Says Gambler

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—A New York pal of gambler Frank Costello testified today he ducked out of New York in 1945 because he received word that William O'Dwyer wanted him to dodge a newspaper blast at alleged racketeers in politics.

Elusive Irving Sherman, who has been sought for weeks, told the Senate crime committee this tip-off came during the mayoralty campaign in which O'Dwyer, Democratic candidate, won the mayoralty contest. He now is U.S. Ambassador to Mexico.

MAY COMMENT LATER

In Mexico City, O'Dwyer indicated to reporters he might have some comment later on Sherman's testimony.

Senate crime investigators have been hunting Sherman for weeks to question him about his friendship with Costello and others active in New York politics.

Murder of U.S. Army Officer By War Comrades Disclosed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Defense Department told a chilling cloak-and-dagger story today of two American service men slaying their commanding officer behind the German lines in Italy seven years ago in a struggle over arms for Italian Communist partisans.

The disclosure named Major William V. Holohan, an officer for the Office of Strategic Services (O.S.S.), as the victim of an alleged plot to gain control of a fortune in U.S. money and to give the Red partisans more arms.

CARRIED $100,000

And it named his slayers as former Lieut. Aldo Icardi of Pittsburgh and former Sgt. Carl G. LoDolce of Rochester, N.Y. The three carried about $100,000 in gold, U.S. money and Swiss francs.

The trio had parachuted behind the German lines on a secret mission to determine what quantity of American arms should be given to the Communist and non-Communist partisans fighting in the Italian underground.

But, officials said, Holohan and Icardi disagreed over the supply of arms and Holohan called off air drops of equipment until he could study the situation further.

"This precipitated the murder of the major for it brought about a fatal division between Holohan and Icardi," the department said.

MAJOR DUBIOUS

"The latter took the position that the Communists were the strongest underground fighting force and therefore the mission should play ball with them. The major, however, remained dubious about the intentions of the Communist group."

The department said LoDolce and two Italians have confessed that Holohan was fed potassium cyanide in his soup, shot in the head, trussed in a bedding roll and dumped into Lake Orta in the Alps near Trieste.

The conspiracy was hatched by Icardi, the department said.

A strange twist in the case, the department said, is that neither of the accused Americans can be prosecuted under civil or military law—and both are free today.

CANNOT BE PROSECUTED

Army officers explained the Supreme Court has ruled that service men, even though separated from the service for as little as one day, can not be prosecuted for a crime alleged to have been committed while on active duty.

But officials said it is hoped that Icardi and LoDolce can be prosecuted by Italian courts. The case has been referred by the State Department to the Italian government.

The story came to light after a long investigation of Holohan's death by army agents working in U.S. and in Italy.

Army agents, an army spokesman said, obtained LoDolce's confession a year ago—but there was no explanation why the story was not made public sooner.

Holohan's body was recovered from the lake June 16, 1950. It now is on the way to New York by ship.

ALL ABOARD

By G. E. Mortimore

This fish story has wings.—A friend and I were out on Langford Lake the other night trying to tempt the wily bass a hopeless job just now. As he cast his Jitterbug and pulled it in, something flapped and squeaked in the semi-darkness.

"I've caught a bat," my friend said. And so he had.

At first I thought the bat was hooked, but we found that it was just tangled in the line. My friend, who hates bats, held it under water for several minutes to drown it, [illegible] hope urging him to take it to shore and untangle it.

Finally we pulled in to shore beside somebody else's wharf, and my friend cut the bat loose and tossed it down, together with quite a length of line.

While my friend untangled his tackle, I struck matches looking for the bat. Eventually I found it, a small furry lump like a circular mouse. It wasn't moving. The line was all wound around its legs and wings, and as I pulled sections of the line away, the bat stirred slightly.

Straightening the tackle and trying to free the bat took half an hour. There were still several coils of line tightly wound about the little animal's legs, and the job seemed hopeless without a knife, by the light of matches.

"Let's take it home and straighten it out in the light," I said. "You can row and I'll hang on to this thing."

"You mean lose an evening's fishing because of a bat?" he said.

On the way back the bat livened up, got loose and started to scramble around the boat. There's something a little repulsive about a bat, and I didn't feel too happy myself. Eventually I manoeuvred it into a tin with a stick and squeezed down the lid.

When I got it on shore it was very much alive. It scrabbled and squeaked to get out, and (I thought) actually snapped its little jaws. You could see it through the chink under the bent lid. It looked exactly like a fierce little pig with long ears and was obviously in a rage.

I put on a pair of gloves, got a small pair of scissors, and opened the tin. Friend bat came tumbling out, flapped over to a dog and lodged on its coat with wings outspread. When I reached for the bat, it took off and flew lamely into the darkness, carrying a fair length of fishing line on its leg.

So all that work went for nothing. Somewhere around the lake there is a bat with an anchor chain.

My friend was very late getting home. I would just like to have seen his wife's face when he offered the alibi that he had caught a bat and waited for me to cut it loose. That's a new one.

To Distribute Food Again This Saturday

Victoria's experiment in practical Christianity gets under way again this Saturday.

Mrs. Barbara Green's free food stall for the needy, open once a fortnight, will make its fourth distribution then at the city market.

More than 85 per cent of the people who have received free food yards from welfare agencies have called to pick up badly needed food, Mrs. Green reported yesterday.

Produce ranging from fruit and vegetables to jam, bread, lard, butter, eggs and cheese have been distributed at the stall to more than 50 of Greater Victoria's more unfortunate people.

Food has been delivered after closing time to a number of others.

Members of one family said the stall had provided them with the first eggs they had eaten in two years.

NEWS TRAVELS FAR

Word of the pioneer project reached as far away as Boston last week, when the international daily newspaper Christian Science Monitor printed a small story about it.

Members of the Royal Arcanum, a fraternal group, have offered help with deliveries. Scouts, guides and many others are also helping, but other volunteers are welcome.

Good-hearted people often bring produce to the stall early on the morning of a distribution day, and Mrs. Green finds it waiting when she arrives at 9 a.m. The stall is open to receive produce from that time until about 6 p.m., when deliveries start.

Mrs. Green appealed to recipients of produce not to call for their food before 1 p.m., because it is not properly sorted until then.

People wishing to get in touch with Mrs. Green about giving food should telephone her on Friday at G 3720.

Small cash donations will be accepted to defray cost of packaging, and freight on a few out-of-town items. Paper bags and poultry feed bags are needed, for packing goods.

Collection points include the Dominion Experimental Farm; [illegible] the home of Mrs. G. A. Vanfreight, Tyndall Avenue; Prospect Lake Store, and McMorran's, Cordova Bay.

J. R. Terry, Poultryman, Dies at 73

One of Canada's best-known authorities on poultry, John R. Terry, 73, of 1702 Quadra Street, died Tuesday night at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

For years Mr. Terry was B.C. poultry commissioner, retiring on superannuation in 1946.

CAME TO B.C. IN 1911

Born in England, near London, he came to Canada in 1900 and three years later was put in charge of the poultry plant at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph. In 1911 he joined the B.C. agriculture department as poultry instructor and in 1918 was named commissioner.

He is survived by his widow and a son, John, of Victoria.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 3 p.m. from McCall's Funeral Chapel. Cremation will follow.

S. L. Butcher, Liquor Board Secretary, Dies

S. L. Butcher, 61, Wilkinson Road, Royal Oak, died of a heart attack at Veterans' Hospital yesterday.

Mr. Butcher was secretary of the B.C. Liquor Control Board. His death followed that of Liquor Commissioner W. F. Kennedy on Friday.

Mr. Butcher was a native of Essex, England. He came to Canada before the outbreak of the First World War. He later served with the Royal Montreal Regiment.

He was a graduate in arts and science from London University, England.

CAME HERE 30 YEARS AGO

He took up residence here 30 years ago as a Liquor Board employee and was appointed secretary in 1949.

Surviving are his widow, Janet, and daughter, Pamela, both at home; one brother in the United States, and a sister in England.

Funeral service will be held from McCall Brothers' Chapel Friday at 10.30 a.m., conducted by Padre Douglas Kendell of Veterans' Hospital. Burial will be at Royal Oak.

New Pension Sought By 14,000 in B.C.

More than 14,000 B.C. residents have filed applications for the new federal government old-age pension plan.

Officials of the health and welfare department's old-age security branch say applications continue to come in at the rate [illegible] a day.

More than 100 a day, presumably from the Greater Victoria area, are applying in person, officials say.

The department expects about 49,000 applications from the whole of B.C. by Jan. 1, 1952, when payments of $40 monthly will begin for all those over 70.

Figures exclude persons now receiving pensions who will automatically receive the new rate next year.

First vehicle to reach a speed of 100 miles an hour was engine No. 999 of the New York Central Railways in 1893.

Alderman Fined Total of $20 For U-Drive Rental Offenses

Ald. Robert McMillan, of M. and W. U-drive, was fined $10 in city police court yesterday on a charge of renting a U-drive car to a person lacking a driver's license, and a similar amount for failing to have a governor installed in a U-drive car.

He had previously pleaded guilty to both charges.

Robert T. McConechy, 3164 Gamma, was fined $25 for failure to have a driver's license and William Tytler, 3861 Cadboro Bay Road, was fined $25 for failing to have adequate brakes on his car.

Elmer B. Ennis, 750 Queens, was fined $25 on a charge of careless driving. Suspension of his driver's license was recommended by Magistrate Thomas.

Wilfred D. Parsons, East Road, Elk Lake, was fined $10 for driving while under a license restriction.

Judgment on a charge of car theft was reserved in the case of Frank W. Tingle, 19, of Metchosin Road, Colwood, until hearing of a second charge of breaking and entering in Saanich court. He remanded to Friday.

Koreans Want End of Strife Despite Government Demands

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

SEOUL, Korea, Aug. 15 (CP).—What do the Koreans really think of the 38th Parallel, or a military line not far from it, as the limit to United Nations' military operations?

It's a baffler.

More than anywhere in the West, it is important here to ask lots of questions of lots of people.

The answers seem to add up to a confused picture of national aspirations, no coherent voice on their realization and meanwhile compliance with government-ordered demonstrations without realization of their impact abroad.

There have been several demonstrations in Seoul, where as many as 25,000 citizens, in columns of threes, have wound their way from a central park, past the capital building and by the foreign correspondents' billets.

CONTRADICTION

They carry banners, proclaiming in English and Korean characters:

"Withdraw beyond the 38th."

"Unify Korea."

"The Yalu is our border."

And, provokingly, "Good luck Admiral Joy."

Strange contradiction. In other words: "We want the war to go on," and "May your efforts to stop it now succeed."

It is a silent filing-past. No shouts or cheers, not even muffled chatter. An interminable, straggly, white column, the only sound the sandals' shuffle on the asphalt.

Only occasionally is there a listless, almost obedient, chorus as a section repeats slogans rattled off a chart by a cheerleader.

Then the wooden masks again. It's all suspicious.

Every demonstration is order-[illegible]

Personal opinions don't matter. The government lays on a demonstration for three this afternoon and the streets detailed fall in as ordered.

DARE NOT REFUSE

"Citizens dare not refuse," said one parader. "They might once, or even twice, but a third time would be enough to be denounced as anti-government and therefore pro-Communist."

The government notwithstanding, the South Koreans have had quite enough of war. This feeling is shared by army officers and other ranks, who said: "We want the war to stop. Train us and we'll hold them wherever the frontier is."

On one thing both North and South Koreans agree—they want their country reunited.

A synthesis of the interviews would be:

"Koreans would be happy to see hostilities end with adequate safeguards for South Korea's territorial integrity and provision for political talks later on unification."

It would seem safe to say that any "Yalu or bust" proclivities shown by the government are not popularly supported — despite Seoul's public protestations.

Japanese Claims Isolation Of Human Cancer Virus

TOKYO, Aug. 16 (Thursday) (INS)—A Japanese physician claimed today to have isolated what he called a human "cancer virus" and asserted that the disease can be diagnosed in its early stages by a reaction test.

Dr. Kiichiro Hasumi said he first discovered what he described as the cause of cancer through an electronic microscope in February, 1947.

Hasumi's exposition of his virus theory of cancer [illegible] Yamada, a member of the Japanese house of councillors, for publication in the journal of the American Medical Association.

Yamada left Tokyo by air Wednesday.

Threatened Split of A.F.L., C.I.O. Won't Affect Canadian Labor Policy

OTTAWA, Aug. 15 (CP).—A threatened split in A.F.L.-C.I.O. co-operation in the United States will not endanger newly-reached co-ordination measures among Canada's major central labor bodies, union leaders agreed today.

Spokesmen said the Canadian policies giving Canadian labor a common voice on joint problems [illegible] in this country and are unlikely to be affected by any action in the U.S.

The U.S. move was a decision by the American Federation of Labor's executive council, made known today, to recommend dissolution of the year-old united labor policy committee through which it and the rival Congress of Industrial Organizations have worked on problems of common interest.

AUTONOMOUS

The A.F.L. is the big U.S. affiliate of the 500,000-member Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, while the C.I.O. has for its Canadian affiliate the 350,000-member Canadian Congress of Labor. Both Canadian bodies are autonomous.

Early this year, the two big Canadian bodies decided to deal with their joint problems by setting up a joint consultative committee. Joining them in that body were the 90,000-member Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor and the International Railway Brotherhoods, which have about 40,000 members in Canada.

Main concern of the committee up to now has been the relationship of rising living costs to wages, and it has been waging a campaign for federal price controls.

Today, Percy Bengough, president of the T.L.C., said that set-up would not be affected by the developing A.F.L.-C.I.O. rift.

Norman Dowd, executive secretary of the C.C.L., agreed with Mr. Bengough's view.

Canadian Trade Deficit Blamed on Export Prices

OTTAWA, Aug. 15 (CP).—Canada got the short end of the stick on world prices last year.

On the whole, she increased the price of exports by 5 per cent, but other countries shot up the price of goods Canada imported by 7 per cent.

This, said the Bureau of Statistics today in an 85-page review of 1950 foreign trade, was one reason why Canada recorded a trade deficit when she was doing the biggest foreign trade business in history.

TERMS WEAKENED

The jump in import prices, over export prices, added the bureau, has weakened the relatively favorable terms of trade which Canada has enjoyed in the post-war priod.

Both exports at $3,157,200,000 and imports at $3,174,300,000 were all-time highs.

Other significant trends:

1. Canada tended more and more to put all her trading eggs in one basket—the United States. She did 66 per cent of all her trade with the U.S., and only 13.8 per cent with Britain and 20.2 per cent with other countries.

2. Though population was increasing, so were exports and imports on a per capita basis. Last year it was $225.24, a 35-per-person jump from $220.90 in 1949. Imports climbed to $229.27 from $203.79.

3. Though Canada was trying hard to become an industrial country, primary products still predominated among exports. Ten primary commodities accounted for more than one-half of total shipments.

Stanley Park Home To Little Old Lady

VANCOUVER, Aug. 15.—A tiny 64-year-old woman, bent with arthritis and down to her last couple of dollars, was found by police this week in the bushes of Stanley Park, where she had been living since July 5.

She told authorities she had moved to the park, with a single blanket, after discovering she could no longer afford a home. They said she was scrupulously clean.

The Salvation Army is taking care of her.

Still No Real Indication That Russia Plans War

—INTERPRETING THE NEWS—

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
AP News Analyst

Advices reaching Washington indicate that the Communist military build-up in the Balkans has reached the point where the Russian satellites are capable of making war on Yugoslavia without direct Russian intervention.

Some people think this was what A. A. Berle was referring to in his Stockbridge, Mass., speech Saturday when he said this was one of the places where a third world war could begin this year. Berle also pointed to Southeast Asia — particularly Burma and Iran as similar danger spots.

Berle, former U.S. assistant secretary of state, added that he doubted the climax would come this year.

Washington is inclined to emphasize that point.

Heretofore there has been considerable reliance on relative military positions in the Balkans to make war unlikely. For a time it was believed that Tito would prove capable of taking care of himself against the satellites.

In the last year, however, Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania, with Poland and Czechoslovakia in reserve, have made great military strides. The danger in this is self-evident.

PEAK PASSED

The peak of this relative unbalancing of strength now is believed to have passed, however, and current western aid for Yugoslavia is believed to be restoring the former position. Washington is relying upon that plus one other factor. It is believed that Russia now understands that such a break will mean general war.

With regard to Burma, the situation is not yet clear. Direct Communist aggression there might bring United Nations action as in Korea.

Russia's current peace offensive throws no particularly reliable light on these points. She might be hoping for a temporary lull during which to achieve surprise. The more general belief is that she plans a longer period of relaxed tensions in the hope of delaying the time when western strength will be able to tie her up completely. There is still no real indication that she intends an immediate war.

Chinese Red Leaders Said Charged With Thwarting Soviet Aims in War

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (INS)—The United States said today a Russian official has charged some Communist leaders with deliberate sabotage of Soviet interests in the Korean war.

The state department made public what it called a "top secret" report to the Kremlin recommending an all-out purge of alleged saboteurs in Premier Mao's red Chinese government.

The state department said that it could not disclose the source of its information, but that the source was considered "absolutely reliable."

The voice of America broadcast news of sharp friction between the Moscow government and Mao.

FOR TOP OFFICIALS

The top secret report quoted was said to have come from Vladimir Rogov, chief representative in Peiping of Tass, official Russian news agency, and reportedly was labeled as intended only for official Soviet eyes.

Rogov asserted that Chinese Communist leaders directly, actively and deliberately sabotaged Soviet interests in the Korean war.

He frankly reported to Moscow that opposition to the Soviet course is growing in the Chinese Communist party, and said that mutterings among the people are getting ominous.

The voice of America broadcast concluded:

"And finally—as a remedy—Rogov makes a strong recommendation that there be an all-out purge in China."

ATTACKS MAO

The Russian agent, according to the broadcast, made a blistering attack upon Mao Tze Tung.

The Kremlin was advised that "of the total Chinese troops assigned to the Korean front, only two-thirds had been engaged in fighting" with the remainder kept in the rear upon orders of the high command of the first Manchurian army.

Rogov said that Mao is well aware of this order, as he had been present at the Manchurian headquarters when it was issued.

The Tass man, reporting on general discontent, said much of it stems from the fact that Chinese soldiers—the so-called volunteers—want to go home. In plain soldier's talk they're tired.

Oddities

EDMONTON, Aug. 15 (CP)—Arthur Jex of Winnipeg half-awakened at a noise in his hotel room.

"Who's that," he asked sleepily.

"Sorry—just looking for the washroom," said a man in his room.

Jex went back to sleep.

The man found the washroom all right.

Jex's wallet—minus $35—was found in the washroom today.

WEST BROMWICH, England, Aug. 15 (AP)—John Jukes got roped into a kid's cricket game, took a mighty swipe at the ball and fractured his thigh.

Doctors said Jukes' condition is satisfactory—for a man of 97.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 15 (AP)—The blushing city commission, which accidentally voted Birmingham dry last week, has made the town legally wet again.

The commission had intended to outlaw only drinking of bay rum, paint remover, and other Skid Row substitutes for liquor. City lawyers discovered, several hours too late, that the resolution covered too much territory.

A carefully drawn law which rectified the error was passed yesterday.

The Buttle Lake Issue

THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT must be rueing the day it gave the power commission the green light to go ahead with the Buttle Lake project. If it is not, and if the weighty and authoritative evidence presented against this violation of a public trust has not already caused it to prepare a strategic retreat, then something is radically wrong with its conception of the public weal.

The power commission has yet to marshal all its technical support, which no matter how imposing it might sound will nevertheless be irrelevant to the main issue, that of usurpation of the legislature's rightful authority concerning Strathcona Park, but rebuttal of the fundamental wisdom of leaving Buttle Lake alone will be beyond its capacity. Too many reputable and well informed witnesses have testified against the power commission's designs for them to be scorned or treated lightly.

Three of these create a highly intriguing situation, one that the government will find impossible to write off. These three, public officials all, are the director of conservation of the lands and forest department, the provincial game commissioner in charge of field operations, and the forester in charge of provincial parks. Each of them submitted evidence inimical to the ruthless exploitation planned by the power commission.

If the views of these officials are to be ignored, let alone those of the other distinguished witnesses opposed to the destruction of Buttle Lake as a natural scenic asset, then the policies of the departments they represent are completely vitiated and the game, parks, and forests branches might as well be wound up. Of what use their purpose should the government which appoints and maintains them spurn their official and considered advice?

Frankly, even without the end of the hearing and the rendering of a decision by the water comptroller, now placed in an unenviable position, we do not think the power commission dare go ahead with its intentions. The public has been aroused, and it has its own legitimate method of visiting its wrath. Nor is it likely to forgive the government should Buttle Lake be despoiled.

Pensions Where Unneeded

THERE is grim irony in the case of the elderly woman who went to live in the park in Vancouver rather than accept charity, and the current enrollment by the score of prosperous and prominent British Columbia citizens for old-age pensions they do not require. If Canada has any extra funds to devote to pension matters it should surely start with those in real need in these trying times. While no direct blame attaches to welfare agencies at Vancouver for neglect that was unreported, the independent spirit of this woman shines like a beacon by contrast. There is something very wrong with national policy when cover-all solutions leave gaps like this for genuine instances of distress to pass unnoticed.

It is characteristic of the federal cabinet that it begins the new universal pension scheme by the bureaucratic means of registration before it has set up any clear method of finding the money to pay the new pensions pledged. It is already apparent that this will be a bill of considerable dimensions, because on top of the aged and needy will now come the aged and well-to-do. It is quite true that the unneeded pensions will be taken back again through income taxation immediately, but it will be many years before such a blanket scheme could be deemed to be contributory or self-supporting in any valid sense.

Rather than universal pensions, including payments to those who are wealthy, a little more care for those citizens of Canada who are living at a distress level would most certainly be in order. Nor is it an answer for the Dominion to say, as say it does, that such matters are the responsibility of local government. If a universal old-age pension is a national cause, so too is the care of those who stand in genuine need. The Vancouver instance should be studied at Ottawa, because it is much closer to the realities of today than some of these superfine schemes upon paper.

It's Worry, Not Age, That Kills

"DON'T WORRY!" How often has a family physician leaned across his desk to give that earnestly to a patient as a model and exemplary piece of advice; and how often has the patient left his office even more bewildered than before? The truth is that worry is ingrained in the human system through long habit and over emphasis, and can only be reversed in the same manner. Some strong characters there are who from infancy have trained themselves to put their troubles out of mind until such time as something of a positive nature can be done about them, but these must be few. The majority of individuals let worry ride them like a hag, expend their reserves of strength for no accomplished gain, and stare bleakly at the doctor when he tells them not to worry.

Yet it is true advice that the family physician has to offer. Worry kills too many people before their time, and needlessly. Inability to throw off the constant pressures of modern, urban living leads to a gradual piling up of unresolved doubts. The mind flies unbidden to these doubts, like the tongue to a sore tooth. Round and round the agitation goes inside of the human skull, without beginning and without end. In due course the nervous system breaks down. The digestion is ruined. Normal bodily functions are disrupted. The special reserves of strength in the human system are exhausted, and serious trouble results. Then comes the unusable counsel of perfection—don't worry.

None the less there is something that can be done about it. While it may be unnatural to be wholly free from misgivings or doubt, people can be trained to worry intelligently; that is, to take one perplexity at a time, break it up, and follow through their thinking with action until they have that problem solved. That formula, too, is as old as the physician's advice, but unfortunately as little heeded.

UPROOTED BY WIND

Sir,—The oak tree Mr. Jackson was worrying about was uprooted by wind last Friday. If we must have small trees in place of elm, ash and chestnut, why not our own graceful dogwood, instead of the evanescently beautiful but usually gloomy Japanese cherry?

PENICILLIN

Sir,—For years I was troubled with a discharge from between by toes resulting in sores, in fact the common bacteriological condition known as athlete's foot. I tried various preparations sold for the complaint but none effected a cure.

It seemed to me that penicillin was indicated but that is unobtainable without a doctor's prescription, except curiously enough as throat lozenges, so I crushed two or three of these and applied the powder. Two days brought obvious benefit and two weeks, it would seem, complete cure. Perhaps others may care to try.

It seems strange that the sale of so potent yet harmless a remedy should be restricted to throats, just where, a layman might think, it would be most injurious if indeed it is injurious anywhere.

ALBERTA CITED

Sir,—A correspondent is incorrect in stating that there is no hospitalization in force in Alberta by the government of that province. From personal experience I found that maternity hospitalization was free without having a compulsory insurance or payment by the individual.

I would suggest to any person owning a car in British Columbia that they enquire about the prevailing rates for licenses corresponding to their own automobile in Alberta. If one were to check back to see what their taxes were in 1935, I feel that the present rate in British Columbia has changed a lot from then. I'm afraid Alberta's new highways would make the rock-dodging roads in British Columbia look a little on the shabby side.

The Alberta government was unable to give $25 a month to each person for good reasons, however, after years of good service to its people (or they would not be in power) what more could you ask for? At least they have not taken the power to take the bread out of children's mouths and practiced it. Compare Alberta's federal debit and surplus with that of British Columbia. Compare Alberta's gas and oil with the number of years our British Columbia lumber industry has been operating. . . .

ON PROPHECY

Sir,—We read with interest Mr. Shaw's letter in July 27 Colonist in which he mentions the prophecy of sudden destruction that would come on mankind when they say "Peace and Safety." He deplores the conditions mentioned in London newspapers of people living for selfish pleasures, while matters concerning the fate of humanity are being pushed into the background, "as it was in the days of Noah."

We also see a hope for the future for people who follow God's instructions. This is shown in the prophecy at 2 Peter 3:13 which states: "We, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness." Also Isaiah 65:17, 21 states: "For behold, I create new heavens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind. And they shall build houses, and inhabit them; and they shall plant vineyards, and eat the fruit of them." Also verses 22 to 25.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

THE Recorder, a London weekly in its 81st year, records in a recent issue the intriguing result of an intriguing experiment. It was not a case of the biter being bit but it came near to being a case of the paper getting much more than it bargained for.

The owner-editor of the Recorder, an admirer of Mr. Churchill, sought to smoke out a split he says was developing in the Conservative Party over there. The method he chose was peculiar, even if he affirms it was done to help the former prime minister, not harm him.

A stenciled card was sent to every Conservative M.P. asking him to state, anonymously, whether he thought the party would do better at the next election with Mr. Churchill as leader or with someone else at the helm.

* * *

Tory M.P.'s were flabbergasted. Nothing like this had ever happened before. One of them, Canada's well-known Beverly Baxter, tore his card up. Not quietly, though. Quoth he: "On the steps of the Capitol the honorable Brutus drew the knife and sent Caesar to his death. But the Brutus of today was offered an unsigned card instead." (Mr. Baxter writes for the Recorder under the pseudonym of "Brutus.")

It is the result of this secret ballot that is intriguing, however. The first lot of returns sent back in the envelopes provided shocked the Recorder—50 per cent carried a tick against Mr. Churchill. This was so surprising it was suspicious.

The envelopes looked genuine and they bore the House of Commons postmark. The cards were checked against one not sent out. The layout, spacing, a dropped "v" in one line, seemed identical.

Then the envelopes were compared with one left over. Color and size were the same but they were of a different quality. It was noticed that the "4" in E.C.4, part of the address, was an open figure, and the typewriter that made the stencil for the original envelopes had a normal 4.

This led to a meticulous scrutiny of the suspected cards. It was found that a lifted "x" in the genuine card was not reproduced in the suspected cards, and that a lifted "s" in the false cards did not agree with the original.

There had been a forgery!

* * *

Who were the perpetrators? They must be individuals with access to the House of Commons. It could be disgruntled Conservatives, rival Socialists, or saboteur Communists. It need not be M.P.'s, of course, who should be above such tactics. But it was some group out to damage Mr. Churchill by making it appear that nearly half his followers were dissidents. Of 139 false cards received 74 were for him and 65 against.

The plotters were careful not to put his opponents in the majority, which would have been unbelievable. Each forged card was differently marked, in different places, with different kinds of ticks, some in ink and some in pencil. Had it not been for that one slip, the "4" on the envelope, says the editor, Mr. Churchill would have been seriously harmed and his party seriously split.

The cards and envelopes were handed over to Scotland Yard, and that, perhaps, ends the matter, except that the Recorder is unlikely to try the same stunt a second time. Anonymity, as this incident proves, can boomerang on its promoters.

Incidentally the genuine cards, those not torn up by M.P.'s like Brutus but returned to the paper, bore this result: For Churchill, 81.8 per cent; against, 18.2 per cent.

Reporting From Ottawa

THE executive board of the (Name of Paper) Fund for the Provision of Gold Stars for Diligent Members of Parliament reports there was no great strain on its finances as a result of the recent session.

Only six M.P.'s out of a total of 262 qualified for kudos by virtue of their consistent attendance to Commons business.

The session's gold star winners are two Liberals, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent and E. T. Applewaite of Skeena, B.C.; two members of the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation, O. L. Jones of Yale, B.C., and R. R. Knight of Saskatoon; one Progressive Conservative, W. G. Blair of Lanark, Ont., and one Social Crediter, John Blackmore of Lethbridge, Alta.

Of all the members of the Commons, these six alone voted in every one of the 29 recorded divisions between January 30 and June 30.

In announcing the award of gold stars to this outstanding sextet, the executive board said that individual presentations would be dispensed with. Instead, a star will be forwarded to each winner upon receipt of $100 to cover the cost of packing and mailing.

* * *

Two M.P.'s were absent from every vote, but each for a different reason. One was an M.P. in little more than name only.

A. L. Smith (P.C., Calgary) announced on the third day of the session that he was resigning because of ill health. He thereupon took his leave, returned to his home in Calgary, and waited for his party's high command to turn in his letter of resignation to Speaker W. Ross Macdonald at a politically advantageous time.

Through a curious error in judgment, the high command didn't realize the time was politically opportune until after the June 25 by-elections. So Smith's resignation didn't become effective until the very end of the session.

Smith at least was present for the first three days. Not so Montreal's Mayor Camillien Houde, who is also the Independent M.P. for Papineau, Que. He showed up only one day, June 4, and so beat out all competitors as Parliament's most persistent truant.

Twenty Liberals, mostly from the Province of Quebec, are shown as not having voted in two-thirds or more of the divisions. In this same category were five P.C.'s and, of course, Houde. None of the Socreds or C.C.F.'ers missed even half of the votes.

* * *

Because of the Liberals' overwhelming majority in the Commons (189 to 69), one might expect Liberal absenteeism would be heaviest. Actually, however, the Tories shaded the Grits, 37 to 36 per cent. Frequent P.C. and Liberal absences are explainable largely by the fact that the homes of many such M.P.'s are in Ontario and Quebec, easily accessible for long week-ends.

Best record was that of the C.C.F., with an absenteeism percentage of 14.85. Right behind the Socialists were the Socreds, with 15.52.

These statistics don't lie but they can convey false impressions. If an M.P. missed a fairly large number of divisions, it doesn't necessarily mean he shirked his duties. Sitting in the Commons listening to speeches is only part of a member's job. Agriculture Minister Gardiner, for example, missed 20 divisions, yet he's one of the busiest men in the Commons or the Government.

Then, too, the statistics take no account of pairing, the parliamentary custom by which a member of one party refrains from voting when his "pair," or opposite number in another party, is not present to vote. Nor do the figures allow for legitimate absences, as on account of illness, or attendance to public business elsewhere than in the capital.

Fuel in Britain

By H. J. J. SARGINT

LONDON, (N.A.N.A.).—The announcement that coke is going to be rationed in this country to two tons a year per household, however large the household may be, is a sure sign that the government is contemplating rationing coal and other fuel when the weather becomes a little colder. The preliminary announcement about coke has been received with a good deal of displeasure by the British public.

These restrictions, almost of yearly occurrence in the last five or six years, would arouse cynical comment were they not so desperately serious, and if they did not press so hardly on people already so much rationed and restricted.

Other economy measures likely to be announced soon include more early and late shifts for factories, to ease the peak electricity load, and a greater drive to induce people to be more economical in the use of coal, both in industry and in their own households.

The government justified the rationing policy by saying that coke consumption rose from 21,000,000 tons in 1938 to 27,000,000 in 1950, and the uptrend has continued. Without the new restrictions, stocks would be insufficient to meet essential needs.

People are asking if it will be necessary again to import coal from America, and the opinion is crystallizing that if American coal is to be imported, it should be brought in as soon as possible, so that it could reach British ports for distribution before the winter weather, and the already choked railway services hold it up.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

NOT many towns and cities in the world have thought of putting their names in lights that can be seen from the air. Or on gigantic billboards, facing the sky, that could be read from above.

The bigger cities do not require it because their location is [illegible] body who travels by air. But the smaller cities and large towns—which look astonishingly alike from the air—are decidedly anonymous to the thousands of people now traveling by aircraft. In flying between two major cities, you may follow a route with which you are thoroughly familiar from the level of the highway or the railroad train. But it is a puzzle to the air traveler to distinguish one town from the other.

From the business promotional standpoint, the identification of towns and small cities could be an extremely useful thing. Seen vertically, a town reveals aspects of it you could not possibly see on a horizontal visit—the extent of the factory areas, the character of the railway facilities, or watercourses. On the outskirts, you see big industrial plants you never realized were part of the town, no matter how often you had visited it by car or train. In other towns, you cannot help but be impressed by the vast expanses of fine cultivated farm lands extending for miles around it, and you can only suppose it is a thriving centre.

Especially in more remote areas of mountain and lake where tourists are a necessary part of the economy, some of the central towns should declare their names, so that as you look down upon the lovely scene, even in the night, when the lakes and rivers and dark forests loom, you would say, "I'm going to visit this district some day."

Bofors Wonder

By ALEC DE MONTMORENCY
North America Newspaper Alliance

NEW YORK.—The world's oldest active armaments factory—the Bofors Works, in Sweden—has begun mass production of the world's newest wonder weapon. It is a 120-mm. cannon, having a fire power of 70 rounds a minute, with an effective vertical range of 43,000 feet, and a horizontal range of 61,500 feet.

Inter-Avia, authoritative Swiss aviation magazine, also reported that the new weapon, which is entirely automatic and outfitted with a radar sight, is destined for use against high-flying aircraft, thus to supplement the rockets and guided missiles which are being manufactured in Sweden to defend the country against an attack from the air.

This new cannon, which is the heaviest and the highest-shooting of all known anti-aircraft guns, and also holds the world record for fire power, is the third wonder cannon developed by Bofors since the Second World War. Another was the new 40-mm. anti-aircraft gun, a perfected type of the model which the U.S., Britain, Canada and France used extensively during the late world conflagration, with fire power increased from 120 to 240 shots a minute. Another is the 57-mm. cannon, which fires 120 shots a minute, and is fitted on the Swedish attack-plane B-18 for use against warships.

The Swiss technical publication added that the new Swedish jet-fighter Saab-29 rivals in performance both the U.S. Saber (F-86) and the Russian Mig-15. It is being built in a bomb-proof plant, hewn deep in the rock of Trollhaettan, in East Gothia province, in southeastern Sweden.

Recent deliveries of high-range radar equipment from America, added to the new artillery and aviation equipment developed in Sweden, have greatly strengthened that country's military position, improving the chances of the ancient northern kingdom to deter Russian attack.

His Valedictory

Well, World, you have kept faith with me,
Kept faith with me;
Upon the whole you have proved to be
Much as you said you were.
Since as a child I used to lie
Upon the leaze and watch the sky,
Never, I own, expected I
That life would all be fair.

'Twas then you said, and since have said,
Times since have said,
In that mysterious voice you shed
From clouds and hills around:
"Many have loved me desperately,
Many with smooth serenity,
While some have shown contempt of me
Till they dropped underground.

"I do not promise overmuch,
Child, overmuch;
Just neutral-tinted haps and such,"
You said to minds like mine.
Wise warning for your credit's sake,
Which I for one failed not to take,
And hence could stem such strain and ache
As each year might assign.

—Thomas Hardy.

Trades and Labor Council to Study Question of Farmers' Milk Subsidy

Whether or not a subsidy should be paid dairy farmers by the federal government will be studied by Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council legislative committee.

The committee was instructed at a meeting last night to obtain the Canadian Federation of Agriculture brief on the dairy industry.

Delegate Ernest Oliver said that if current elimination of dairy herds continues, even 50 cents won't buy a quart of milk.

"There should be a subsidy to dairy farmers to hold on to their herds," he said.

HIGH BEEF

Dairy herd reduction is due to high beef prices, said council secretary Percy Rayment. "Some farmers are not selling, but if they attempt to buy stock, butchers can outbid them."

He suggested representations to Ottawa through the provincial government, adding that beef exports are ruining dairy herds and possibly depleting beef herds.

"Only reason herds reach the auction block is that farmers can't afford to keep them," Mr. Oliver added. He referred to a Daily Colonist report of the milk board hearing of Tuesday to back his subsidy request.

John Aubry, Retail Clerks' Union, said his opinion was that farmers must take the good with the bad in rejecting the subsidy proposal.

"The solution to herd shortages is a regulation that registered dairy stock cannot be sold for beef," he said.

"You can't find a solution by blaming farmers," replied machinists' delegate Harold Thayer. "The solution is that the federal government must begin a planned economy for dairying similar to that operated by the Canadian Wheat Board. British Columbia's problem is that insufficient grain is grown here for feed."

A subsidy for feed was suggested by R. H. Wooten, Municipal Employers' Association delegate.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Almost 5,000 Manitobans attended the Canadian Forestry Association's lecture-movie show on fire prevention between July 9 and Aug. 5. The mobile movie unit covered 1,700 miles in traveling to 27 points in the province.

43 Cadets Pass Course In Speaking

Forty-three first year members of the Cadet Officer Training Corps at Work Point Barracks last night graduated from a 12-week course in public speaking.

The cadets were students of the four Victoria Toastmasters' clubs which conducted the course two nights each week for the past three months. Graduation last night was a dinner meeting with cadets acting as chairman, toastmaster, guest speakers and other meeting officials.

The cadets are students from 12 universities in all Canadian provinces. Chairman of last night's meeting was officer cadet Allan Armstrong of Edmonton.

Public speaking was made a requirement for C.O.T.C. members for the first time this year.

Lieut.-Col. A. Perron, commanding officer of Work Point, said the response of the Toastmasters' clubs was gratifying.

Capt. J. N. Robertson, head of cadet instruction, indicated that the plan would be repeated.

Heading the Toastmasters during the course were area governor Gordon Williscroft and educational chairman Denis Taylor.

Officials Endorse Fund For College Endowment

Definite progress has been made toward the establishment of an endowment fund for Victoria College, according to Principal Dr. John M. Ewing.

A special meeting of important provincial, civic and business officials, including Education Minister W. T. Straith and Deputy Minister Dr. F. T. Fairey, endorsed the idea as "both practical and desirable," Dr. Ewing said.

"Much of the initiative has come from Major H. Cuthbert Holmes, who believes that the college is an essential element in the cultural and economic expansion of this area."

The time was now at hand, Major Holmes told the meeting, for the college to expand into a four-year institution and to become established as a federated college of the University of B.C.

The meeting supported his recommendation that steps be taken immediately to set up necessary administrative machinery.

Others present were J. B. Clearihue, chairman of the Victoria College Council; Robert A. Wootton, city lawyer; Col. A. G. Styles, manager of the Canada Permanent Trust Co.; R. W. Phipps, manager of the Royal Trust Co.; S. Crawley, manager of the Royal Trust Co.; G. E. Whitaker, manager of the Canada Trust Co.; R. Edgell, manager of the Yorkshire Trust Co.; W. W. Lewis, manager of the Montreal Trust Co.; Sandham Graves, editor-in-chief of The Daily Colonist, and Dr. W. H. Hickman, vice-principal of Victoria College.

Uncle Wiggily Story

By Howard Garis

BOSUN'S LUNCH

Bosun, the old sea dog, was rowing as hard as he could to keep the boat, with Uncle Wiggily, Buster and Bunty in it, well ahead of the pursuing, snapping turtles.

"Are you getting tired, Bosun?" asked Uncle Wiggily who sat in the stern to steer the small boat back to the raft. "Do you want me to help you? I can take my turn."

"I know you can, Cap'n Wiggily, sir," answered Bosun. "But if we changed places it would mean the boat would stop a little while. Then the turtles might catch up to us."

"And they might bite pieces out of the oars and then the oars wouldn't be any good, would they, Bosun?" asked Buster.

"That's right, Buster Boy," replied the old sea dog. "When you were marooned on Mud Turtle Island you saw how strong were the jaws of that one big snapping turtle."

"I'll say I did!" exclaimed the Rabbit Scout. "He bit in two pieces some sticks as big as broom handles. But he got tired after a while and went away."

"He went to get a lot of his turtle friends to chase us," said Bunty. "Oh, preciousums, darlingums Priscilla! What can we do?"

"For one thing, you can cut out that baby talk, if you please," said Buster.

"All right, My Hero!" said Bunty. She called Buster a hero because on Mud Turtle Island he had driven away three new bad foxes by throwing blazing sticks at them. "No more baby talk, Hero Buster."

"And please stop calling me a hero," said Buster. "I'm just a plain Rabbit Scout."

"And a very good Rabbit Scout you are, Buster," said his father. "You were ready and brave on the island with Bunty. But you said, Bosun, that you had an idea that might stop these snapping turtles from chasing us to bite holes in the oars."

"All right, My Hero!"

"Yes, Cap'n Wiggily, sir, I have an idea."

"What is it," Bosun?"

"My idea is to give these snapping turtles a lunch. They would stop to eat the lunch and that would give me time to row away from them. I might even hoist the sail, which would make us go faster. The wind is changing. I can soon hoist the sail if I could stop these turtles for a little while. A lunch would do it."

"Oh, but Bosun," said Buster. "Bunty and I ate all the lunch we brought with us to Mud Turtle Island. There isn't even part of a carrot sandwich left."

"That's all right, Buster," barked the old sea dog. "I have a lunch of my own. When we started out on this rescue voyage, Cap'n Wiggily, I put some dog biscuit sandwiches in my coat pocket. I thought I might get hungry. But I didn't have time to eat. The sandwiches are now in my left paw pocket. Buster, just reach in and take out the sandwiches. I don't want to stop rowing or I would get them myself. Just toss the dog biscuit sandwiches over the stern. I think the snapping turtles will stop to eat them and that will give us a chance to get away."

"All right, Bosun! I'll do it!" answered Buster. He tossed the sandwiches over the back of the boat into the midst of the chasing turtles who were now churning the water of Frog Pond into froth and foam as they raced after the boat.

But, no sooner had Buster tossed the sandwiches overboard, than the turtles stopped chasing and began fighting among themselves to eat Bosun's lunch.

"Avast and belay! Now we can get away!" barked the old sea dog. "I can hoist the sail and we'll soon leave these turtles far astern."

No sooner said than done. The turtles were so eager to eat Bosun's lunch that they forgot all about chasing the sail boat. The wind blew harder. The boat went faster. But all of a sudden Bosun said:

"Something has happened, Cap'n Wiggily, sir!" Tomorrow I will tell you what happened if the coffee pot will make some candy out of the condense milk for the pussycat's breakfast.

All you do is just measure one teaspoonful right into the cup—pour on boiling water—and stir. One taste and you'll know why more people drink Nescafé . . . for pure coffee enjoyment. No fuss or bother—no wait. More economical, too, than ordinary coffee making. # Anglers Happy as B.C. Salmon-Fishing Nears Peak

Salmon-fishing in B.C. is reaching its peak and anglers are reporting considerable success as above pictorial evidence proves. Pictured above with three-big springs boated in little more than hour at Cowichan Bay yesterday morning is Tiny Richards, well-known Victoria angler, and young son. Salmon weighed 30, 27 and 25 pounds and were some of many caught yesterday as popular fishing ground enjoyed one of its best days.

Comox-produced this 38½-pound tyee for two Victoria doctors Monday morning. Pictured with catch are Dr. M. J. T. Dohan, left, and Dr. J. F. Tysoe, who was Dr. Dohan's partner when latter boated his prize.

Here is daddy of them all—the 82-pounder hooked by Frank Piscatelli, Vancouver, in Queen Charlotte Sound. Piscatelli made his catch on light tackle and it is believed world record. Also in picture is youthful Pat Wilson, eight pounds lighter than fish.

Louis Jabs Way to Win Over Bivins

BALTIMORE, Aug. 15 (AP)—Old Joe Louis left-jabbed his way to a unanimous 10-round decision over back-pedaling Jimmy Bivins of Cleveland tonight for the eighth straight victory of his desperate comeback drive.

Always chasing his retreating opponent, Louis never was able to explode the bomb he carried in the days when he held the heavyweight title.

Only in the last round, when he ripped into Bivins in savage fashion, did the 37-year-old Louis appear close to scoring a knockdown. Ironically, he was penalized this 10th round by referee Eddie Leonard for a low blow.

The referee gave Louis a 7-3 edge on his scorecard. Both judges, Lee Halfpenny and Bill Ellis, had identical 6-3-1 scoring.

A's Abandon Ticket Sale For New Car

Because of the current government drive against lotteries of one form or another, some Victoria baseball fan will have to do without the 1951 auto Victoria Athletics had intended to give away prior to the season's last game on Sept. 4.

Business-manager Reg Patterson announced last night that the Victoria Baseball and Athletic Co. Ltd., which had been selling memberships in the Victoria Athletics Association, had called in all books of tickets and that the project had been abandoned.

Ticket purchasers will have their money refunded but the method of making reimbursement has yet to be decided. An announcement will be made within the next few days.

It was a serious blow to the club, planning to help meet deficits incurred in 1949 and 1950 with proceeds from the sale of memberships. Instead, the club will be out a considerable amount of money, including the cost of printing, commission to ticket sellers, office expense and a certain amount of gate receipts. Memberships included the right to purchase a ticket to a W.I.L. game at a reduced admission charge.

Kid Line to Remain With Cougars; Open Saskatoon Camp September 20

When Victoria Cougars skate out on the ice at Saskatoon on September 20 for their first training camp workout they will include Reg Abbott, Andy Hebenton and Bob Frampton.

The good news that the popular Kid Line would be back for a second season with the defending P.C.H.L. champions, first announced in the Colonist six weeks ago, was confirmed yesterday by general manager Fred Hutchinson after he had been assured by Montreal Canadiens that the trio would report directly to the Cougar camp.

Hutchinson earlier announced that Saskatoon had been selected as a training site when the arena management there agreed to terms which were mutually satisfactory. Spokane, Edmonton, Calgary and Kelowna were among other cities which had been under consideration at one time or another.

LEAVE SEPTEMBER 17

Cougars leaving from Victoria will move out on September 17. After seven days, the Cougars will meet the new Saskatoon entry in the P.C.H.L. in the first of two exhibition games. The second will be played two days later, September 29.

Two other exhibition games also are planned but nothing is yet definite about when and where. Hutchinson hopes to arrange to play the games after the club has broken camp and is heading for Vancouver, where the tentative schedule has them meeting the Canucks in the lid-lifter on October 5. A game in Edmonton or Calgary or against Saskatoon in Regina on or about October 1 and a second game against New Westminster at Kamloops on October 3 is what Hutchinson has in mind for rounding out an ideal exhibition schedule.

Although the P.C.H.L. has yet to adopt a final schedule, the tentative list of games submitted by league president Al Leader will probably be retained—with a few minor alterations. The Cougars are satisfied with it, have asked for only one change.

HERE OCTOBER 8?

The Cougars expect to open in Victoria on Monday, October 8—if that is the Thanksgiving Day date. Friday again will be hockey night in Victoria with the Cougars playing 23 of their 35 home games on that night. Eight games are scheduled for Tuesday in the tentative schedule, one for Monday, one for Wednesday and two for Saturday. The Cougars will play at home on successive nights twice—for both Saturday games.

While nothing further was divulged about playing personnel, it would not be surprising if the Cougar management had some secret hope that Colin Kilburn and Doug Anderson, scoring stars of last year's Edmonton Flyers, might show up in Victoria spangles this season.

Kilburn and Anderson are the property of the Montreal Canadiens and Edmonton yesterday signed an agreement to work with Detroit Red Wings, leaving the status of the two players in question. While Hutchinson would make no comment, it is doubtful that the Cougars would not make a priority claim if Kilburn and Anderson play in the P.C.H.L. While Kilburn, in particular, has shown a reluctance to turn pro, the inclusion of the three Prairie cities in the P.C.H.L. may leave him without further choice.

EXPECTED TO REPORT

Players owned by the Cougars who will be expected at training camp are Goalie Jerry Cornoir, Joe Evans, Joe Medynski, Fiori Goegan, Jack McIntyre and Don Webster. Bernie Strongman, released a few weeks ago to give him a chance to make another hockey connection, will be welcome to try for the club if he fails to do so and may be an added starter.

Canadiens will supply most of the other players although the Cougars are still hoping to make a deal for a player or two. However, they are finding most of the good available talent from the U.S.H.L. has been spoken for and so far have had no success.

TWENTY PLAYERS

About 20 players are expected to be on hand for the Saskatoon camp. The Canadiens will hold a training camp at Winnipeg at which it is believed their promising amateurs will get a once over. Those felt ready for pro company will probably be sent to join the Cougars at Saskatoon. Others, including such as Ed. Dorohoy, Stan Long and Ed. Mazur, will likely work out with the Canadiens, who open training at Montreal September 17. Some of these players will eventually be assigned to the Cougars.

Incidentally, season's ticket sales for last season's season-ticket holders will start on Aug. 27. Further details will be announced shortly.

Shamrocks Wallop Vancouver 17-12; Turn Race for Playoffs Into Turmoil

| Nanaimo | 5 | 20 | 0 | 286 | 467 | 8 |

Next game, tonight: North Shore at New Westminster.

Victoria Shamrocks, assured of the Inter-City Lacrosse League championship, are now busy turning the three-way fight for the remaining playoff positions into a turmoil.

Victoria left the North Shore Indians with a chance of copping third place as the Shamrocks defeated the Vancouver Combines 17-12 in a goal-crazy battle at Memorial Arena last night.

Indians, who trail Combines by three points, have three games left to play and Combines have only one. If the Indians are to avoid the Shamrocks in the playoffs they must win at least two of their matches, one of them against Vancouver.

ALL TOUGH

Their remaining three games are all tough. Indians meet New Westminster tonight, entertain the Shamrocks tomorrow and then close off the season against the Combines next Tuesday.

Shamrocks had to rally twice after blowing a couple of husky leads to do their bit in tightening the race last night.

Starting fast, the Rocks ran up a 3-1 lead in the first quarter. Three quick goals by Darrell Popham, Archie Browning and Duff McGaghey gave hem a 6-1 lead in the second period. The teams then split four goals to make it 8-3. Then the Rocks ran into a slump, as they watched the Combines bang in three straight to make it 8-6 at the half.

GET LEAD

Kenny Webb, Rene Leatherbarrow and Ticehurst ran three more past Bill Andrews to open the third quarter as the Combines soared into a quick 9-8 lead.

Though they caught the Irish, Combines couldn't hold them. Bobby Monaghan, with a quick pair, and Popham regained the lead for the Rocks. Harry Buchanan then scored for Vancouver to leave the third quarter at 11-10 for the Rocks.

Harry Buchanan, playing a great game for Combines, tied it up for the second time at 18 seconds of the final period. But by that time the Rocks seemed to have had enough. Duff McCaghey beat two checks to break the tie and Browning and Wally Henderson made it 14-11 before Kinna got the final Combine goal.

PROMISING

Henderson, making his first appearance in a Victoria uniform, showed well on a line with Browning and Larry Booth and promises to do yeoman service filling in for the sidelined Whitey Severson. Besides his goal, he added a pretty assist and checked hard all night.

Popham and Monaghan, with three goals and an assist each, led all scorers. Harry Buchanan's hat trick topped the Combines.

A's Helped to Victory By Wenatchee Fumbles

| Tri-City | 55 | 71 | .423 | 27½ |
| Yakima | 58 | 72 | .416 | 29 |

Still minus a catcher, Victoria Athletics last night ended a four-game losing streak at Wenatchee at the Chiefs helped them to a 6-3 victory.

With Rocco Cardinale supposedly on the way to Wenatchee by bus from Portland, where he was grounded by an airline strike, Don Pries again did duty behind the plate. The hustling third baseman was charged with one error and a passed ball and permitted a stolen base but Jim Propst was tough for the Chiefs' left-handed batting order.

At that, it was a close call. The A's outhit their rivals 13-6, but left 12 runners stranded and needed most of the five Wenatchee errors.

Bill Dunn and Gene Thompson had three hits each with Dunn hitting in timely fashion to figure in most of Victoria's run-making.

The win moved the A's back within five games of fourth place and still left them with an outside chance to make the post-season playdowns.

CAPS GAIN GAME

Meanwhile, Vancouver's second-place Capilanos gained a game on the leading Spokane Indians and added a player who should help immeasurably in the stretch drive for the pennant.

Pete Hernandez coasted to his 14th win as the Caps squared the series with a resounding 15-2 conquest of Salem Senators. The Indians fell at Tacoma for the second straight night, 5-0, as Hal Dodeward, rookie righthander, left 11 runners stranded in a six-hit performance. John Marshall was the loser after running up six straight for his new club.

Vancouver's new player is K. Chorlton, who played for the A's last season. Chorlton was recalled from Tacoma by the Seattle Rainiers and sent to fill in for the injured Gordie Brunswick, out for the season with an ankle injury sustained at Victoria Friday. Chorlton was hitting .348 in the latest averages.

Soldiers Take Third Game To Annex Title

The 119 Battery captured the Lower Island senior "C" men's softball championship by defeating Saanichton 1-0 in the deciding of the best-of-three series at Upper Central last night.

The Soldiers won the first game of the series 11-6 at Saanichton Sunday afternoon but dropped the second game 8-0 in the evening.

Bill Rostek and Larry Bechard shared the hero's mantle last night. Rostek led off the fourth inning with a double and then scored on Bechard's single.

The 119 Battery will now meet up-island winners for the Vancouver Island championship.

Five N.H.L. Clubs Agree To Send P.C.H.L. Talent

Five of the six N.H.L. clubs have agreed to send surplus talent to P.C.H.L. clubs and Detroit Red Wings have some sort of an agreement with two clubs. Only Toronto Maple Leafs in the major circuit have no arrangement with a P.C.H.L. club.

Edmonton Flyers, one of the three new prairie entries, has announced an agreement with Detroit, supposedly already committed to helping Ken MacKenzie's New Westminster Royals.

Frank Currie, Edmonton coach, will attend the Red Wings' junior training camp opening at Winnipeg Saturday and hopes to find some talent there. It is also believed that much of the Detroit talent at Omaha, champions in the U.S.H.L. last season, will go to Edmonton. The Flyers also hope to sign several of the players who wore their livery in the disbanded Western Canada Hockey League last season.

Three of those players, Colin Kilburn, Doug Anderson and Ray Barry, belong to N.H.L. clubs. The former two are Montreal property and could be sent to Victoria. Barry belongs to Boston Bruins, who are working with Tacoma Rockets.

Jake Forbes, new coach at New Westminster, will also attend the Red Wing training camp and MacKenzie is seemingly not perturbed by the Edmonton-Detroit arrangement, explaining that the Red Wings will have enough surplus talent to help both P.C.H.L. clubs.

Saskatoon made news yesterday with the announcement that Bill Cook, one of hockey's all-time greats and a former Saskatoon star when the Hub City was a power in pro hockey, has been signed as coach.

MAY FOLLOW

Cook, who played with the Saskatoon Sheiks when they included such stars as brother Bun, Newsy Lalonde and George Hainsworth, coached the Denver entry in the defunct U.S.H.L. last season. It is generally believed that many of the Denver players will rejoin Cook at Saskatoon.

At Vancouver, where the Canucks are hoping to get plenty of help from New York Rangers, it was reported that Murph Chamberlain has decided to return as coach although the official announcement has not yet been made.

This leaves only one P.C.H.L. coaching berth open for Babe Pratt, former New Westminster pilot. Pratt, previously reported as a "possible" at Vancouver and Saskatoon, will fly to Calgary this week to discuss the coaching job there. He is said to have had an offer from Glace Bay but may wind up out of the league altogether.

HAWKS DEAL

Calgary, incidentally, has made an arrangement for players with the Chicago Black Hawks.

The line-up of working agreements of one sort or another: Montreal with Victoria, New York with Vancouver, Detroit with Edmonton and New Westminster, Boston with Tacoma, Chicago with Calgary and Cleveland with Seattle. Only Saskatoon in the enlarged eight-team P.C.H.L. has no definite agreement except for the connection with Denver through Cook.

Student Problem

BERNIE CLARKSON

Leading batsman in Senior "A" Men's Softball League this season, Bernie Clarkson, will be first Pitzer & Nex batter to face Chinese Students in third game of best-of-five semi-final playoff series for city championship at Upper Central tonight at 6.30. Clarkson led league batters with lofty .373 average. Ah Wiebe will be starting on mound for Gasmen while Students will likely employ veteran Stan Tenning. Pitzer & Nex lead series 2-0.

Browning Wraps Up Scoring Title

Archie Browning, ace sharpshooter of Victoria Shamrocks, wrapped up Inter-City Lacrosse League scoring title last night beyond any reasonable doubt. Blonde forward scored twice, assisted once as Shamrocks downed Vancouver Combines, 17-12. It gave him season's total of 60 goals, 26 assists, 13 points more than New Westminster's Alfie Woods, closest of active rivals. Wood has only two games left. So has Browning. Teammate Whitey Severson, inactive with broken foot, still is second to Browning with 78 points.—(Colonist photo.)

Jokers' Target

ALN THOMPSON

One of the main reasons why Foul Bay has been undefeated so far this season, Aln Thompson, will be special target for Western Jokers sharpshooters tonight when clubs meet in second game of best-of-five series for city senior "B" box lacrosse championship at Memorial Arena. Bays hold one-game lead by virtue of their 14-11 overtime win last Monday. Game is scheduled to start at 8.30 p.m. In preliminary at 7 p.m. East Burnaby Adanacs, 1950 provincial champs, will play Victoria juvenile allstars in exhibition tilt.

Whaley and Sullivan Oust Last Two B.C. Entries

It will be an all-American final for the grand championship of the 29th annual Seniors' Northwest Golf Association tournament, which concludes tomorrow at the Victoria Golf Club.

There were no upsets yesterday as the last two Canadian entries bowed out before the consistent shooting of the veteran U.S. stars.

Ralph Whaley, Seattle's phenomenal athletic oldster who is favored to win his seventh championship in eight years, rolled on to the semifinals win a 7 and 6 victory over Vancouver's R. Milroy.

VICTORIAN ELIMINATED

He will tangle with Portland's G. E. Sullivan in one semifinal today. Sullivan eliminated the last Victorian, H. O. English, 4 and 3.

Ed Eisenhower, Tacoma, who shared medalist honors with Whaley, continued to advance through the tougher half of the draw and remains a favorite to meet Whaley in the final. Eisenhower measured G. P. McManama, 1948 champion, 3 and 1 after leading from the start.

WILL FACE CAMPBELL

Eisenhower's semifinal opponent will be Seattle's Roy Campbell, always capable of beating anyone unless they are at their best. Campbell ousted Portland's Dr. Oscar Willing, former Walker Cup player, 1 up in their semifinal. Willing, behind from the start, lost all chance when he shanked two approach shots on the 16th and left himself dormie two. He won the 17th but a half on the 18th gave Campbell the match.

Among those left in the running in other championship flights is ex-Premier John Hart, who advanced to the semifinals in the "A" age group with a 1 up win over W. Babson.

Thunderstorm Halts Net Play

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 15 (AP).—A terrific thunderstorm that flooded the courts within a matter of minutes washed out the national doubles tennis program after three women's teams qualified for the semi-final round today at Longwood.

During the storm's height, a lightning bolt struck a tree outside the grounds, about 100 yards from the grandstand court, ran down its trunk and killed Frederick J. Bialka, 37, a bus starter at a nearby bus stop.

Passmores Win Mixed Doubles

Mr. and Mrs. Passmore of the Burnside Lawn Bowling Club won the Cross Cup mixed doubles competition by defeating Mr. and Mrs. C. Wood of the Canadian Pacific club in a keenly-contested match at the Burnside club last week.

Mrs. Phillips and K. McConnell were winners of the consolation round.

The Burnside club will stage a special day at its green this Sunday. Mixed games will be played at 2 p.m. and at 7 p.m. All lawn bowlers are welcome.

Ned Garver and the No. 13 jinx were both unable to stop the high-riding Cleveland Indians yesterday.

Cleveland blasted Garver and the St. Louis Browns for seven runs in the first inning to take a 9-4 decision. It was the Indian's 13th consecutive victory—tying the team's longest winning streak set in 1942.

Al Rosen paced the first inning outburst with his fourth grand-slam home run of the season to tie a major league record held by several players.

RETAIN MARGIN

The win preserved Indian's 2½-game margin over the second place New York Yankees in the American League. The Yankees blasted five Washington pitchers for 15 hits and an 8-5 victory. Yogi Berra and Joe Collins paced the attack with four hits each.

Boston made good use of seven hits off two Philadelphia pitchers to pick up its seventh straight victory, 4-2.

GIANTS DUMP BROOKLYN

National League action was featured by Brooklyn's 3-1 loss to New York Giants and Ralph Kiner's 32nd home run.

The Giants cut the Dodgers' lead to 10½ games when Wes Westrum broke up a mound battle between Ralph Branca and Jim Hearn. Kiner's circuit clout and a triple, which gave the Pirate slugger four runs batted in, was the highlight of Pittsburgh's 7-0 conquest of St. Louis Cardinals.

Russian Policy At Games Finds Disfavor

BERLIN, Aug. 15 (AP).—Russia's athletes are being booed right and left by Germans in the Communist-sponsored world youth festival games.

The latest incident occurred at an east Berlin field during the running of the 10,000-metre race. In the audience were nearly 30,000 blue-shirted German Communist youths.

In the late laps, a slim Hungarian named Penzes was running strongly and looked like the winner. But then, according to witnesses, three Russian runners boxed him in and roughed him up so he nearly fell. When Penzes tried to run around them, the Russians bumped him and again boxed him so effectively that all three finished ahead.

But, instead of cheers, they got boos. Many German youngsters followed the Hungarian to the dressing room, applauding him all the way.

Presentation of awards to the winners in this race was postponed to prevent a new outburst.

Three Mounts Fall in Tangle At Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Aug. 15 (CP)—Three mounts tumbled today during the eighth race at Exhibition Park race track and one jockey was injured.

The tangle occurred when Don't Bar Me ducked out at the first turn, causing Wreath Cake to go down. Daily Bread and Brian R. followed with dives to the dust.

Track officials said Brian R. received a broken leg and would have to be destroyed.

Cecil Wells, riding Wreath Cake, was pulled to safety by Willie Slocum, who tumbled with Brian R.

Wells was taken to hospital with head injuries. His condition was later described as good.

Golf--- Here's How

By SAM SNEAD
Golf's Greatest Player-Teacher

After you start your backswing just keep those hands moving UP and leave it to the hip pivot and, particularly, the shoulder pivot to furnish the back-and-around action. If you try to add to the ground movement by just pushing your hands back and around you'll wind up with your hand stopping over your right arm, in a flat swing, instead of having your hands UP between your right shoulder and your ear, in an upright swing. Now notice the arrow pointing to the left knee. At the point pictured the left knee breaks in toward the right permitting you to gather your hip and shoulder pivot without body sway. For the left toe keeps a firm grip on the ground and the left heel rises, and your knees level with NO left side sag.

News in Review

(From AP, CP, INS, Reuters)

Atomic weapons were back in the news last night. A weekly news magazine in New York reported that the U.S. Army has tested atomic artillery which may soon change the entire nature of war.

The magazine said the new artillery would help the west overcome Russia's biggest military asset—her hordes of men. Use of atomic weapons in the battlefield would turn a vast army into so much cannon fodder.

Another new development, the magazine said, is the guided rocket which may soon make the airplane as obsolete as the cross-bow.

Canada's own atomic scientists at Chalk River, Ont., installed a new omegatron, which weighs particles one-millionth of an ounce in weight.

In Ottawa, an expert announced that one Hiroshima-type atom bomb could kill 97,000 people in that city.

Winston Churchill, who became a Freeman of Dover, praised Gen. Douglas MacArthur for refusing to try Emperor Hirohito of Japan as a war criminal. He said this leniency helped turn the Japanese towards western democracy.

Let-Downs

Canadian bagpipers, in Edinburgh for the Gathering of the Clans, discovered that all these years they've been playing the pibroch too fast. Their 104-to-the-minute beat went out in Scotland 25 years ago. The newer, lower tempo gives a better swish to the marchers' kilts.

Toronto, proud of its big-city status, was told that motorists are still forced to wait for cows to cross one of the main streets. A proposed by-law would force meat-packing firms to build a $150,000 subway under St. Clair Avenue, for the use of cattle.

Syndicates, Salesmen Face Charges Of Violating Provincial Securities Act

Charges were laid against three syndicates and four salesmen in Vancouver yesterday for alleged violations of the B.C. Securities Act.

Seven charges of acting as brokers without a Securities Act license were laid against Yukon (Vancouver) Brewery Syndicate, the Yukon (Lake of the Woods) Brewery Syndicate Nos. 1 and 2.

ALL FROM VANCOUVER

Charged with acting as salesmen under the Securities Act were C. C. Dann, Philip Penn, Stanley J. Borland and L. A. Bowes, all of Vancouver.

Invested by about 250 people, including some Victorians, was $101,734 in amounts from $50 to $4,000, investigations by the superintendent of brokers disclosed.

J. Stewart Smith, superintendent, said legislative counsel of the province, Gilbert Hogg, K.C., will be special prosecutor. Date of the trials has not been set.

ASSETS TAKEN OVER

Protection for investors was afforded last week by the superintendent's office. A newly formed B.C. Yukon Breweries Ltd. took over the syndicates' assets, to issue 145,000 shares which will be held in trust.

Plans of the original groups were to start a brewery in the Yukon. Later an option was taken on the Lake of the Woods plant. The sum of $25,000 was paid on option but $65,000 still is owing, the investigation disclosed.

Still Hunting Young Fugitive

Greater Victoria police still were searching last night for a 15-year-old fugitive from Coldharbour Road juvenile detention home.

The youth, held in connection with the entering of the Gorgeway Grocery early Monday morning, escaped through a back window of the home Tuesday night.

He is described as wearing detention home clothes—black black shirt, grey pants, and red slippers — and horn - rimmed glasses. He is heavily built and appears to be about 19 years old, according to police.

Can't Compute Cost of Visit Mayor Says

Costs of Royal visit entertainment in Greater Victoria can't be calculated until final arrangements are made by Ottawa, Mayor Percy George said yesterday.

He was commenting on a report that Calgary city council has approved a $10,000 expenditure to fete Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The provincial government, in co-operation with Government House, is believed to have forwarded to Ottawa an outline of plans for the welcome. Federal authorities requested outlines by today, for approval by Ottawa's special co-ordinating committee.

The committee also has asked that welcoming speeches be kept brief.

Gaitskell's announcement froze an interim ban on increased dividends pending legislation to freeze them at revised rates.

Producers Voice Sympathy, Assert More Income Vital

Special to The Daily Colonist

NANAIMO, Aug. 15 — Milk producers expressed "very real sympathy" for consumers struck by spiraling living costs, but told the milk board meeting here today that they had to get more for their milk or go out of business.

"We also are our own families to consider and we have our ambitions for food as well," H. M. Robinson, secretary-manager of the Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association, told the hearing.

[illegible] the nearly [illegible] consumer delegations called on the board, made up of Chairman F. [illegible] Carr, Prof. H. M. King and Mr. B. V. Lister, to consider [illegible] decreases, subsidies and every other alternative to [illegible] that price [illegible]

HIGHER COSTS

[illegible] cost of labor, grain [illegible] freight. Every [illegible] everything [illegible] the producer of milk [illegible] prices for [illegible] fixed prices, Mr. [illegible] said.

[illegible] prices be increased [illegible] are in a position where [illegible] be forced out of business [illegible] the consumer will be [illegible] in a position [illegible]

[illegible] general trend of [illegible] prices [illegible] the source of all and the one [illegible] often overlooked, said Mr. Robinson, is the cost of labor.

"At present milk prices pro[illegible] 7.6 per cent or 3.70 cents an [illegible] for farm gate. It is [illegible] able to get help at that price. The boys want to pay others [illegible] is of at least $1.10 an hour, he said.

"In the past two months, almost a countless requests have come to him for assistance in obtaining dairy help. Mr. Robinson said he had been able to get only one man and he was a cripple.

"Attempts to keep wages of producers lower than in other industries will result in no [illegible] to the producer," Mr. Robinson said. "We don't have stamps that compete with other industries."

In summary, Mr. Robinson asked "Is it not better for the producer to get an increase now so that the consumer can have milk than to have it fold up and let a basic industry die?"

A. G. Lambert, speaking for the producers, said: "At present prices for milk and present cost of materials the farmer cannot even afford to build a fence. If there is to be a stop, let's make it a good one and let's put the producer on the same level with other basic industries and not just nibble at it a little bit at a time."

URGES HELP

G. A. Wendlow, a non-member of the Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association, but a milk producer, said the provincial and federal governments should do much to assist the farmer and reduce his cost of production.

A consumer, Mrs. Peter Bradford, Mrs. High D. Heath, president of the Nanaimo branch of the Canadian Association of Consumers, Mr. R. E. Simpkins and Mrs. L. Cowie of the Local Council of Women and Ald. T. Wilson representing the city of Nanaimo, offered suggestions for keeping down the price of milk for the consumer.

Suggestions included a graduate dairy class, government subsidy, paper cartons instead of bottles, less price to the producer and a drop price to the consumer, giving the way open for the producer and distributor to work out their own system on a competitive basis, permitting of stores to sell milk for cent less a quart, establishment of a consumer board and establishment of a cooperative system.

DISTRIBUTORS

The milk distributors of Nanaimo were represented by Harold Hinc local barrister, who said that should the board grant an increase to the producer, the distributor should not have to bear the brunt. The milk board, he noted, had granted the distributors an increase on June 20, and the factors presented then in support of the increase were still in force. Since then many items have increased, he added.

The board sits again Thursday at Courtenay.

At Dedication of New Home

Mayor Percy E. George, Bishop Harold E. Sexton and Health and Welfare Minister A. D. ### Haven for Elderly Women Opened

Bishop Hopes to Found Home For Aged Anglican Clergymen

Bishop H. E. Sexton has hopes of establishing in Victoria a home for aged Anglican clergymen when they retire.

He made the announcement Wednesday when he officially dedicated the Caroline Macklem Home for elderly women.

"As a class," the bishop said, "there is none more deserving than our aged clergy who must live on small pensions. It's my ambition to have a home for them in Victoria, where they may live out their days in peace and contentment."

PRAISES DONOR

The bishop thanked Miss Kathleen Agnew for the gift of her fine home to the Women's Auxiliary of the Diocese. He referred to her kindness and generosity and said:

"We thank her from the bottom of our hearts and will always hold her in grateful remembrance."

The Women's Auxiliary, he said has been a real pioneer in undertaking the home as a needed social service.

Of Caroline Macklem, after whom the home is named, Bishop Sexton said: "Those of us who knew her knew she was a resident engaged in all kinds of good works. She was one of the most self-effacing little ladies you could ever meet."

He said he wished Miss Agnew would allow her name to be used in connection with the home but she had refused "in that modest mood which is part of her character."

Miss Agnew sat on the platform with Mrs. R. O. Tupper, president of the W.A., Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Sevan, the Minister of Health and Welfare and Mrs. A. D. Turnbull, Miss Dorothea Mitchell, chairman of the home committee received guests with Mrs. Taylor.

Mr. Turnbull representing the premier and government said the home would do much good for one of the problems which faces B.C. is that people are now living longer and must be cared for in their later years.

Mayor George called Caroline Macklem "the personification of faith, hope and charity."

Following the dedication service the guests inspected the 16 bedroom mansion on Rockland Avenue. Three stories high of red brick and half-timbered, it sits at the top of an incline surrounded by 3½ acres of gardens. Miss Agnew left much of her fine furnishings in the home including a picture of The Last Supper in the dinner room because when her father first hung it there he said he wanted that picture to bless all who ate in the room.

The house was built in 1894 by the late Senator Hewitt Bostock, father of Dr. Marion Sherman of Victoria. It cost $10,000. Later it was occupied by Hon. J. D. Prentice, provincial secretary in the Dunsmuir government and afterward minister of finance. Miss Agnew's parents took up residence there when they came from Montreal to live in Victoria.

The large baronial type hall way with dark wood, fireplace, handsome grand staircase and magnificent stained glass window has become the main lounge and there is also a sitting room upstairs. The library has been turned into a chapel. There are many porches for the convenience of guests.

TEA SERVED

Tea was served in the beautiful dining room, under convenership of Mrs. J. D. Hunter. Presiding at the table were Mrs. Sexton, Mrs. Percy George, Miss Agnew, Mrs. M. W. Mackenzie and Ald. Mrs. Margaret D. Christie.

The home has a staff of four, under the matron, Miss Marjorie Grant, R.N., and can accommodate 28 guests. It is almost filled now. The former coach house has been converted into a dwelling of nine bedrooms and four bathrooms.

Also honored Wednesday were the memories of Mrs. Emma Cogdarippe and Miss Kate Brack who left legacies in their wills for the establishment of such a home for elderly women.

Opposition Counsel Wants Figures on Contract Rates

Rates for power paid by special contractors of the B.C. Power Commission should be considered along with other evidence presented at current hearings on the commission's application to dam Buttle Lake, T. G. Norris, K.C., counsel for conservationists, declared yesterday near the end of the sixth day of hearings.

Mr. Norris argued that the hearing was concerned with values and that rates are part of values.

"A public body like the B.C. Power Commission should have no objection to making its business public," asserted Mr. Norris as he asked for copies of the special contracts.

DAVEY OBJECTS

H. W. Davey, K.C., counsel for the commission, objected to the rates being made public on grounds that such action would affect the competitive position of the other contracting parties. He said he did not object to Mr. Norris seeing the contracts.

Publication of the rates was a matter for the commission to decide, said Mr. Davey.

E. H. Tredcroft, comptroller of water rights, conducting the hearings, ruled the question of rates was not pertinent.

If special rates exist, said Mr. Norris, it supports argument for construction of a dam on a more expensive alternative site to Buttle Lake.

ASK DIRECTION

Mr. Tredcroft said that if Mr. Norris was going to insist Mr. Davey should ask for direction from the commission.

"It shouldn't be within the whim or will of the commission to decide whether these figures are seen," said Mr. Norris. "Really, I'm amazed."

Mr. Norris persisted that if the cost of the dam is going to be pooled among the commission's consumers it may be that the people who benefit from special rates "can quite easily carry the load for the preservation of this great asset for the people."

Mr. Norris suggested costs might be assessed against special users and not passed on to the general public.

FIND OUT

Mr. Tredcroft asked commission counsel to find out if there was any objection to the information being released.

"After that I will make my decision," he added.

Earlier, G. A. Vanderoort, chief operations engineer for the commission, took the stand to give evidence as to anticipated power demand on Vancouver Island.

The net capacity of the John Hart power development is 108,000 horsepower, he testified.

By 1954-55 anticipated demand on the system will amount to 120,000 horsepower, he said. Anticipated demand of major special contracts at that time will be: Harmac pulp mill 18,500 horsepower, B.C. Electric 26,800, Rossland, 10,000, Isle River News print Company, Duncan Bay, 21,400.

WITHOUT SPARE

By the end of 1954 it is expected the John Hart development will be without reserve 20 cycle unless there is some hydro expansion.

Mr. Norris asked the witness if the output from the Puntledge power plant had been taken into account. Mr. Vanderoort replied he did not know when Puntledge might be brought into production of 60 cycle power, explaining it was now geared to produce 25 cycle power not used in general consumption.

"Are there no 60 cycle generators at Puntledge?" asked Mr. Norris.

"Yes, I believe there are a couple."

"And could they be used?"

"Yes."

ONLY FUNCTION

When Mr. Norris asked if he had taken into account the cost to the people of damming Buttle Lake, Mr. Vanderoort replied it was his function only to see that commission customers are supplied with power.

Using the commission's own cost figure of $3,500,000 for alternative damming of Upper Campbell Lake, Mr. Norris said the more expensive project would cost each commission customer only 2½ cents a month. He based his estimate on 70,000 commission customers and an annual sum of $300,000 to retire the cost of the dam.

Urges Priority Of Recreation

The resource of recreation must enjoy a high priority on Vancouver Island, according to Dr. David Turner, director of conservation for the department of lands and forests.

According to principles of democracy, land should be used to benefit the greatest number of people, he told the public hearings on the application of the B.C. Power Commission to dam Buttle Lake.

If a dam were built at Buttle Lake, Dr. Turner said, he did not think it would be possible to preserve the recreational advantages of Strathcona Park.

"We must be very careful what we do with our land," he said.

FISH STOCKING

James Cunningham, B.C. game commissioner in charge of field operations, said that under the Dominion Fisheries Act the commission would be required to restock Buttle Lake with fish if the lake is dammed.

Mr. Cunningham said artificial stocking would be necessary on Buttle Lake, but would not be required on Upper Campbell Lake.

Fish in their wild state are definitely preferable to fish put in a lake from a fish hatchery, he asserted.

Appearing on behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jones, 2930 Earl Gray Street, Victoria, John F. Gatehouse protested against the plan to dam Buttle Lake.

VACATIONS IN PARK

Mr. Gatehouse said Mr. and Mrs. Jones had been spending summer vacations in Strathcona Park for the past 17 years.

"The raising of the lake would lay waste forever approximately 50 miles of beautiful shoreline," said Mr. Gatehouse. "What a mockery this would make of the vision of a wise government which 40 years ago set aside this wilderness area as a public park."

"Advocates for the retention of Buttle Lake in its natural state are accused of holding up progress, but the sacrifice that the people are being asked to make is far in excess of any benefits that they may derive from the development of electric power to further speed up the already excessive overcutting of our forest resources," he added.

F. G. Graham, forester in charge of provincial parks, who testified at Courtenay sessions of the hearing, too, the stand again to file a report based on first-hand study of Strathcona Park and Buttle Lake. Details of the report prepared by his department were not given.

FILES REPORT

Labor Opposes One-Man Decision

THE legislature should decide whether a power dam may be constructed at Buttle Lake, Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council (A.F.L., T.L.C.) recommended last night.

Council delegates endorsed an executive recommendation that the Buttle Lake matter be taken to the legislature "even if a special session is necessary" rather than leave a possible decision in the hands of one man. The lake park area was dedicated by the legislature and should only be taken away by the same body, the recommendation read.

Alice With Phil

Reinforcement Here For Actor-Fisherman

By RON BAIRD

Phil Harris has sailed in a reinforcement in his battle with the Campbell River salmon.

And such a nice one too.

Alice Faye arrived there Monday to set to give Phil a hand in pulling in some of the big ones at the famed upisland fishing resort.

TRYING HARD

"I'm trying hard," said Alice yesterday, admitting that her reception Monday night was the best time she had ever got that close to Campbell River salmon fishing.

"We're going out again to-night," she said, and added in a husky tuesday voice, "I wasn't very sticky Monday."

But even if the types aren't jumping over backwards to land on her line and they certainly should be, the warm weather is making Alice very happy.

GETTING GOOD REST

"I'm taking advantage of this holiday to lie in the sun and rest before we start our radio program again the last Sunday in September," she said.

Missing out on the fishing are the Harris children, Alice and Phillip.

"They're at home," she said. And her two beautiful daughters are one of the reasons why Alice hasn't made a movie for the past six years.

"I've no special plans for more work. I like doing the radio program because it gives one more time to be at home."

REMLEY RETURNS

And talking of the Phil Harris-Alice Faye show, one of the top programs on Sunday nights here, the 36-year-old, New York born actress added the information that Frankie Remley, Phil's guitar playing sidekick on the program has just returned from a tour of Korea with Phil's "boss," Jack Benny.

But Remley's probably better off in Korea, he and Phil would have given the fish a bad time at Campbell River.

TO STAY FOR WEEK

Alice flew there from Vancouver after a short stop-over on the mainland. She plans to holiday upisland for about a week.

She and Phil may return home through Victoria.

"Hope I'll see you if we do," she added.

Me, too!

Alice Faye Arrives

"Caught up with you at last," says screen star Alice Faye as she reminds husband Phil Harris that his bachelor days as a fisherman at Campbell River ended when she arrived to try her hand at fishing at the up-Island resort. She plans to stay there a week.

Ratepayers' Special

Straith, Thomas, Wragg To Make Island Journey

The special Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association test train to Port Alberni will carry Education Minister W. T. Straith, Reeve A. I. Thomas of Esquimalt and Mayor J. C. Wragg of Duncan as well as an estimated 400 island excursionists.

Organizer George Bonner of Cobble Hill, said Mr. Straith will represent the premier and cabinet on the trip designed to prove more travelers would use an improved E. & N. rail service.

The ratepayers' group has launched the campaign as a protest against the E. & N. proposal to end passenger service on the upisland run.

E. & N. employees, who have offered their services free, have announced their full support of the plan.

MANY INQUIRIES

Although ticket sales for the trip were not available for Victoria yesterday, a spokesman at the store Street ticket office said inquiries have been numerous. Tickets are sold at the C.P.R. Government Street office.

Mr. Bonner said Victoria sales were going "very well."

Spokesmen for the E. & N. employees said the trip would benefit both the railroad and the island as a whole.

Reeve Thomas will carry greetings from Mayor Percy George to Mayor Lorne Jordan of Port Alberni and a special invitation for a return visit by citizens of the capital city.

The ratepayers' association has received support from the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, tourist trade group and from Hickman Tye Hardware Co. Ltd. The hardware firm has posted a $500 guarantee required by the E. & N. company.

The train is scheduled to leave Victoria at 8 a.m. Saturday and will return to Port Alberni four hours. The return trip will start at 7 p.m.

Beach Access Complaint Unfounded Says Council

An Oak Bay resident has lodged a bitter complaint over lack of access to a beach in her neighborhood, but council indicated last night that her complaint is groundless.

In a letter to Oak Bay officials Mrs. E. M. Gore-Mason of 1206 Beach Drive said she is uncertain levies that the public be barred from a beach near Saxe's in Avenue.

SEAWALL CONSTRUCTED

Operators of a nearby apartment building, Mrs. Gerard Mason claims, built a seawall on Dominion Government foreshore land "taking approximately 40 feet of property not belonging to them."

She states that sun-bathers from the Oak Bay Beach Hotel have used the beach during the summer by crossing this land.

A "Private Property, No Thoroughfare" notice now bars people from reaching the beach.

"Kindly inform the apartment operators this is illegal and this approximate 40 feet in front of the apartment is not their property but Dominion land and that the government does not give away foreshore rights," writes Mrs. Gerard Mason.

She urges that the municipality "see that a path to this beach be constructed at once."

In a reply to the council, however, Municipal Engineer A. S. G. Musgrave states that the complainant has erred in her judgment of the government property involved.

DESCRIPTION INCORRECT

Her description of the area "does not at all represent the situation," Mr. Musgrave reported at last night's council meeting.

"There never has been public access to the water at that beach, therefore it is impossible for us now to demand one."

The council decided to abide by Mr. Musgrave's report.

Smart Summer Fashions Worn at Garden Party

A brilliant display of summer fashions was seen at yesterday's garden party at Government House and every hue of the rainbow was evident in the smart costumes worn by the feminine guests.

Heading the list of beautifully-dressed women at the party was Mrs. Wallace, who chose a gown of champagne pink lace styled with wide, diamond-shaped neckline, three-quarter fitted sleeves and skirt flaring to floor-length fullness from a smoothly fitting hipline. With it she wore a picture hat made of layers of stiffened net shading from pale pink to a deeper hyacinth blue and [illegible] in shades of hyacinth.

Miss McLean wore a full-skirted afternoon-length dress of cloud-light nylon over mauve taffeta with turquoise blue velvet sash and hat.

Mrs. W. C. Nichol, a Government House chatelaine of former days, wore a full-length gown of finely-pleated chiffon in a light cocoa shade with beige lace draped in a shawl collar which fell to the ground in a back panel.

Miss Kathleen Agnew wore a salmon-pink gown splashed with white flowers, white accessories and medium brimmed white sailor hat.

SHELL PINK TAFFETA

Mrs. F. Ronald Graham of Vancouver was strikingly gowned in shell pink taffeta topped by a swinging pyramid coat of pink taffeta overlaid with black lace.

Mrs. John Hart, one of the most familiar figures at Government House functions, wore a plain navy suit with small-brimmed white straw hat trimmed with navy velvet ribbon. Mrs. Wallace B. Creery chose a water-colored floral silk with white hat and her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Creery, was in a white figured silk dress and white hat.

Mrs. James Fell and Mrs. Herbert S. Wood were among the guests from Vancouver, the former in a navy ensemble, her tiny hat trimmed with small pink roses, and Mrs. Wood was in a smart navy shantung two-piece suit. Mrs. Macgregor Macintosh wore a deep blue frock and hat to match, and Miss Margaret Jane Macintosh wore a full-skirted white dress with black picture hat.

Mrs. G. S. M. Warlow's attractive ensemble was a pale grey [illegible] and white print frock and small grey hat; Mrs. R. H. B. Ker wore a white jacket over her white with navy polka dot dress and a large lacy white straw picture hat. Mrs. Eardley Wilmot was in black.

MANY PRINTS

Mrs. C. E. Wilson wore a geometric print in dusty rose and white, styled with all-round pleated skirt and white picture hat.

Mrs. Gordon Wismer was smart in white, navy and grey print dress with white straw swathed in navy veiling.

Mrs. Cyril Wightman wore a pale mauve-blue two-piece taffeta dress with swinging skirt and mauve straw bonnet. Mrs. H. R. Ruttan wore a midnight blue iridescent taffeta dress in coin dot design with full skirt and short, draped sleeves. Mrs. V. S. Godfrey was attired in a two-piece black crepe dress with black accessories, and her daughter, Miss Peggy Godfrey, chose a slim-skirted blue linen dress with bolero and white pill-box hat.

Mrs. C. E. Rivett-Carnac wore a two-piece suit of burnished gold satin with wide straw picture hat en tone. Mrs. D. A. Collins wore a slim suit of champagne lace with dusty rose accessories and rose satin pumps. Mrs. H. F. Pullen was in a beige silk tailored dress with front panel of pleats and brown accessories.

Mrs. J. D. Prentice chose soft grey chiffon with black picture hat. Deep plum blue satin fashioned the suit worn by Mrs. B. Russell Ker, whose brimless blue hat was trimmed with tiny flowers. Miss June Ker chose a pale gold silk dress with small black velvet hat.

NAVY POPULAR

Mrs. James G. P. Audain wore a royal blue and white figured dress with black hat trimmed with ostrich feathers. Ridewood was in grey and white polka dot with white hat, and Mrs. Maurice Wood was in a navy suit with small navy hat.

Mrs. Hobart Molson was smart in a navy dress with pleated skirt and velvet-trimmed jacket in deep lilac shade. A brown afternoon frock and brown hat with touches of green velvet was the choice of Mrs. Montagu Bridgman.

SWEDISH STEEL

STOCKHOLM (CP)—By an extensive program of expansion and modernization, the Swedish iron and steel industry expects to raise its annual capacity to 2,000,000 tons of ingot steel by 1955. Present rate is about 1,600,000 tons.

Barring Defense Vehicles In Esquimalt Suggested

Barring of national defense department vehicles from Esquimalt streets until more federal funds for road repairs are made available, was suggested last night at a meeting of the Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association.

According to association members, vehicles from the army's Work Point Barracks and the navy's H.M.C.S. Naden and Dock[illegible] are causing street damage in excess of the $19,000 which the federal government grants annually to Esquimalt.

A demand for additional grants from the government was suggested as an alternative to the $400,000 public works loan, presumably for road repairs, which the Esquimalt municipal council has been considering.

ILLEGAL MOVE

Reeve A. I. Thomas, speaking at the meeting, stated that barring the federal vehicles from the streets would be illegal.

Asked if he felt more federal aid could be received through regular channels, Mr. Thomas replied that he was very doubtful. The government had first offered only $8,000 a year, he stated, and considerable discussion had taken place before the grant was raised to its present figure of a little more than $19,000.

According to Mr. Thomas, the government is not legally obliged to give aid to Esquimalt. The $19,000 is a compassionate grant.

Mr. Thomas then suggested that a committee of three from the ratepayers' association be appointed to confer with the municipal council on "confidential" matters. As an example of the type of thing which could best be kept quiet, he mentioned a recent newspaper article which said that the municipal works department was making its own concrete sewer pipes in order to save money.

As a result of the publicity, according to Mr. Thomas, the municipality has been forced to pay a considerable amount of manufacturers' tax to the federal government.

NO DIRECT REPLY

Asked whether this meant the [illegible] breaking the law by not paying the tax, Magistrate Thomas declined to answer directly.

Instead, he stated that there were many "sleeping dog" laws on the books.

"Why it's even illegal to hold the charity bingo games they have right here in this hall (the Boilermakers' Hall)" he said. "We were just trying to save the people of Esquimalt some money."

Further discussion of the $400,000 public works loan was shelved until the council takes definite action on the matter.

The association also decided to petition the municipal police for temporary traffic control at the corner of Esquimalt Road and Admirals Road until permanent arrangements are made and to present a brief to the provincial public utilities board and the municipal council protesting a further increase in phone rates.

Glad to Cut Army, Says Red Colonel

MOSCOW, Aug. 15 (INS) —An article in the Soviet magazine News said today that Russia would "gladly abolish its regular army, but international conditions being what they are, it must retain a bare minimum for defense of its frontiers."

The article, written by a Col. Gavrilov, said Russia has a total of fewer than 2,500,000 men under arms.

Happy Isle of Man Girds for Election

DOUGLAS, Isle of Man, Aug. 15 (Reuters)—Politics reared its ugly head on this happy-go-lucky island of tourist hotels and almost no income tax today. A general election will be held Nov. 17.

The 50,000 Manxmen of this 270-square-mile country — independent despite the fact that it lies smack in the narrow Irish Sea between England and Ireland—will choose 24 representatives for five-year terms in the second-oldest representative government in the world, the Tynwald, with a legislature known as the House of Keys.

Dating from a Viking invasion in 1079, it is surpassed only by the Althing of Iceland, also of Norse origin.

The Isle of Man is technically independent of the British Britain appoints a lieutenant governor and makes all foreign policy decisions. The House of Keys looks after home matters.

The House of Keys now is predominantly Conservative with only two sure Labor seats and a couple of doubtfuls.

government, although in practice the political scene is set by that of England.

Chief Forester Answers Anonymous Allegations

C. D. Orchard, chief forester of the B.C. Forest Service, struck out yesterday at anonymous charges made against his department last week by "a group of forest service civil servants."

In an anonymous letter to The Colonist last week the group declared department-head empire builders were responsible for inefficiency in the civil service. Writers of the letter justified their anonymity by explaining that the civil service commission in launching an efficiency survey had asked for anonymous suggestions from civil servants.

The letter cited the forest service as an example of a government department that had lost its original decentralized organization.

POLICY STAYS SAME

"Speaking from the experience of more than 30 years in the forest service in a wide variety of jobs ranging from cruiser and ranger, I have no hesitation in saying that throughout those years there has been an unceasing effort to decentralize the administration of the service and to place the responsibility and a wide range of freedom on the local officers throughout the province," declared Mr. Orchard. "This policy has never been changed.

"I hesitate to take too seriously irresponsible and anonymous charges, but in view of the prominence given . . . to the anonymous letter from 'a group of forest service civil servants,' I feel that some reply should be made by a forest service officer who is not ashamed to make a signed statement," he said.

Mr. Orchard said the anonymous informants had made such sweeping charges that a detailed reply would be too voluminous for publication.

"But perhaps one item could be singled out of the remainder of the letter," he stated. "For this purpose, I note it is stated that 'there are too many forest service executives per each field man on a ratio of some 160 executives to 90 permanent field men'."

REFERS TO FIGURES

Mr. Orchard referred to organizational figures printed in the service's annual report for 1950, adding figures for 1951 were nearly the same.

These figures show a supervisory staff comprised of one chief forester, one assistant chief forester, nine divisional foresters, 13 senior division assistants, five district foresters, five assistant district foresters.

"These are the senior supervisory or 'executive' officers of the forest service, but even in the case of these men at least one-half of their time is spent in the field on the job where the work is being done," explained the chief forester.

Field men include 84 technical foresters, nine supervisors, 210 rangers and acting rangers, 69 scalers, 24 technical assistants, 19 in nurseries, parks, etc., 46 mechanics, carpenters, etc., 49 cruisers, compassmen, dispatchers 19 truck and tractor operators, eight foremen, 36 miscellaneous.

WORKING MEN

"These (573) are 'working men' in the strictest sense of the word," observed Mr. Orchard.

Addition of 285 clerks, accountants, stenographers, messengers brings the total permanent staff to 892.

A seasonal staff of some 1,165 assistant rangers, patrolmen lookout men, snag fallers, reforestation crews, cruisers, truck drivers and others, is also employed.

FEW ADMINISTRATORS

About one in 60 could be segregated in the administrative grade, the chief forester said.

"I imagine some . . . readers will think of an executive as a man who draws a very satisfactory salary, sits comfortably behind a clean desk for three or four hours a day and hands down an odd decision from time to time," he stated. "There are no forest officers in this happy position."

Fishing Clause Urged in Pact

Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council (A.F.L.-T.L.C.) last night recommended that the Dominion government assure that adequate safeguards for Pacific coast fishing grounds are written into the Japanese peace treaty. A similar recommendation was endorsed by the T.L.C. council at Vancouver.

Five Juveniles Plead Guilty

NANAIMO, Aug. 15—The five members of the juvenile crime ring arrested here at the week-end appeared in police court again on Wednesday morning on six more charges.

A plea of guilty was entered on each charge. The five boys were not involved in all charges but more than one was involved in each charge. Charges included automobile thefts, stealing from parked cars and breaking and entering.

The five were remanded by Magistrate Lionel Beevor Potts until next Tuesday for sentence.

Arrest of the youth, ranging in age from 14 to 18 years, clears up a long series of crimes reaching from Duncan to Royston.

EDUCATION COSTS

The value of public school property in the United States has been estimated at more than $8,000,000,000.

Tell Police Quickly If Child Molested

A wave of sex crimes involving children has prompted Chief of Police John Blackstock to issue the following warning to parents:

If your child reports being molested, notify the police immediately.

He pointed out that delay in reporting these incidents greatly reduces the chances of apprehending those responsible.

Police reports show that persons responsible for such crimes have been active here in the past four months. The last [illegible] occurred about two days ago.

Many children have been lured into secluded spots in city parks and other spots, some on the promise of candy or other treats.

Chief Blackstock emphasized the fact that speed in notifying police will help cut down occurence of such incidents here.

Fund for Boy Boosted By Dance

The Harold Kirkham fund jumped to approximately $300 last night as Victorians gave their support to a benefit dance.

The proceeds, not completely totaled last night, may be used for a trip to Mayo Clinic, Chicago, subject to approval of Harold's doctor.

Music, hall, refreshments and other trimmings of the dance were entirely donated for last night.

Harold, 14, of 817 Vale Street, has been bedridden since February, suffering partial paralysis following an influenza attack. Neighbors, who arranged last night's dance, are also raising funds for the lad's entertainment and medical needs.

LAUNDRY FIRE

City firemen extinguished a small fire in a clothes tumbler at the Standard Laundry, 841 View Street, yesterday afternoon.

Hatcher Hits Lack of Church Help

Ald. Aubrey Kent, Greater Victoria civil defense control board member, will deliver a lecture to students at the civil defense school this afternoon.

Ald. Kent will speak on leadership. He was selected to attend a federal government training course earlier this year to help in forming defense plans for the area.

Nineteen students now attending the course will continue studies for another 10 days, Defense Co-ordinator Leonard [illegible]

He also criticized lack of support from church ministers of Greater Victoria. "The answer has been exactly nothing on the request they become interested in civil defense."

CALLS FOR VOLUNTEERS

He called again for more volunteers to the Greater Victoria civil defense organization.

Word is being awaited from Ottawa on whether the government will provide 22 air raid sirens for a warning network here. Six sirens are being set up at strategic locations in the city to form a nucleus of an adequate system, Mr. Hatcher said. A siren test is planned soon.

GERMAN SPIES

It has been estimated that Germany had more than 20,000 espionage agents in France before the First World War.

WHITE CIDER- MALT

— The Spud - Nut —

No more beautiful potatoes ever grew than the patch I have in Lasserdinge. I did not intend [illegible] the [illegible] too much rain. But I stuck in the fork and [illegible] long about the end of May, then turned the earth & gave it a whisk, argin it looked as dresser than black. I turned some more, soon had a dirth. Yours? I think that this [illegible] My stack of peat moss was near on the ground. I [illegible] it around. On the new row I started in this time dressing the peat moss in. I reached for the stones every once in awhile, soon I had a great big pile. I battled great boulders [illegible] to win, threw in more parts where these stones had lain. There were great juicy worms [illegible] to sweeten some peats. I added charcoal. The more I dug, the stronger I got. I felt I could dig the whole blooming lot. "Ye G.P." came up, called me a drone "too late," she said. "You haven't a mate." Besides, she blamed a week on to say, "Now I realize the things when we're away." "Don't you sike?" I replied. "This parcel peat will hold the water, keep the ground sweet." Quickly she turned & went thru the gate, then I plunked in the spuds, on the hog it said "Take." Don't YOU be late nor should you fail to get down here to our AUTUMN SALE. We eat bargains like you've never seen, our Chesterfield Sets especially keen.

I spilled on the water, I soaked it good, then we all went away to Hollywood. Soon outa my mind these murphies went, caught up in new sights & orange juice. When we returned I beside tell dead the spuds were jumping in their peaty bed. I grabbed the hose & water did tossem, then all of a sudden I saw them in blossom. I don't think they'll EVER wither & die, & get that sad look, like others who try; they don't seem like spuds, to me at all, but some NEW kinda flowers so stately & tall. Last nite at dinner, she sed to me, "no cleaner potatoes did I ever see." I looked at my plate, then outside I sped, to find 3 stalks all wilted & dead. I picked up my blooms, to my bosom I crushed, all seemed quiet & very hushed. "I'm sorry," I breathed, & stroked with my hand, & I felt somehow they did understand. Slowly I turned, I tried not to weep, as I tenderly laid them on the compost heap. Then I went inside, retraced my feet, to the snake on my plate . . . TOO LOVELY TO EAT.

Black Ball Line Adds Mv. Malahat to Summer Sailings

The Black Ball Line announced yesterday it will add the Mv. Malahat on the Victoria-Port Angeles-Seattle sailing, effective today for about three weeks.
